Tentative PHS Budget Cuts Draw Angry Protests from All Sides

A Princeton High budget of $2,215,800, sliced deeply by cuts, in spite of the $134,800 increase from the current budget, drew a flurry of darts last Thursday at a spirited school board meeting.

Students, who had apparently been told by teachers that class sizes would be increased by the skimpy budget--to a rumored 35 students in English classes, one student reported that he'd been told ---came out in force to comment and protest.

"I'm glad I'm leaving," said senior Gordon Silverstein, "these cuts are going to hurt drastically."

Principal George Petrillo and Acting Superintendent Edith Francis, explained that it's a draft budget, tentative. It had been completed only the previous week-end, Mr. Petrillo said (although members of the PTO said he had presented it to them earlier), and is not due in final form in the state Commissioner of Education's office until February 1.

The principal pointed to the school's 175 courses, eight departments, three student service programs plus independent study, and told the audience that the tight budget affected all students--academic and non-academic.

Cuts, according to Mr. Petrillo: 6.9 positions dropped: one teacher each in English, foreign language, physical education; one guidance counsellor, one secretary; half a nurse; three-fifths of an art teacher, two-fifths of a music teacher.

In languages, one section plus advanced-placement French would go....in science, two sections plus one section of horticulture...in business education, four-tenths of a teacher plus probable elimination of the Fortran class.

The guidance case load, now 220 students to one counsellor, would increase to 280 to one, Mr. Petrillo calculated.

On the playing fields, all freshman after-school sports would go, plus paddle-tennis and varsity golf.

When board member Judith Getis asked why no cuts were proposed for math or social studies, Mr. Petrillo told her both departments were already "oversubscribed." When board president Dietrich Meyerhofer asked how the principal could justify the Industrial Arts program, Mr. Petrillo said the Mercer County vocational school has allotted Princeton High only 19 students and 13 are now enrolled there. As an example of the worth of Industrial Arts, he suggested that an academic student who wants to be a doctor might want to broaden his experience by learning auto mechanics.

"That's a frill!" snorted Dr. Henry Powsner, from the audience, "I can't bleed for such a student."

Cold Weather Setting Some Records Here; But Problems It Is Creating Appear Minor

SUSPICION CONFIRMED Actually, Princetonians needed little confirmation that it was cold this week. The bad news, flashed in lights by the thermometer on the front of the Nassau Savings and Loan Building, read nine degrees when this shot was taken early Tuesday evening. But it wasn't holding. By the time the picture was taken, it had dropped to eight.

"It's going to get warmer, but I don't know when," announced weatherman David Ludlum of Science Associates, removing a mothball from his swimming trunks.

He had just read minus five on his Riverside thermometer. It was Monday. The next day, he read minus two. His colleague, Dan Mazzarella on Magnolia Lane beat him on Tuesday: he had minus three.

"It may be a record for this date, but not for January," Mr. Ludlum said, "and it's been colder than this in February."

But not much.

For good, honest, rousing sustained cold, the months since October can't be beat, Mr. Ludlum said happily. The three-month average is almost equal to the winter of 1917-18, coldest in the history of New York, or 1962-63, coldest in the history of Philadelphia.

For more than three weeks - since Christmas night - there has been snow-covered ground in Princeton. There was "one day of sloop," on Monday, January 10, but then the snow began again.

It's Arctic air, down from Canada, Mr. Ludlum said, as if we didn't know. The jet stream has been farther south -- "it's snowing now in Georgia," he said Tuesday morning, peering out the window, "and we've been in the rain-snow belt for two months."

When this cold meets moisture - snow. We were on the cold side of Friday's weather and that's why it snowed all day. None of the snows has brought wind. There was, of course, a windy Sunday night but that's because the cold front was passing through, bringing more Arctic cold. Like coals to Newcastle.

Frozen brakes and stubborn cars, but no real anguish from the cold, here in Princeton. On Tuesday, the schools' acting superintendent Edith Francis, ordered all thermostats lowered from 68 to 65, thereby making sweaters part of the curriculum, but perhaps warming the budget as it chills the classroom.

Princeton High School and Princeton Hospital use the heavy Number Six institutional fuel oil - smaller schools use Number Two - and there is no shortage here.

Ted Solay, chief engineer and director of the Medical Center's physical plant, says if the cold lasts longer than 30 days, people who don't ordinarily use Number Six may move in on it, as other grades of oil dwindle.

No thermostat-lowering in the hospital, however: there are 98 miles of pipe in the complex of buildings, some on outer walls and vulnerable to freezing. It may be the warmest place in town.

committee time to figure out ways to keep the line running. A non-profit corporation - perhaps to be called Dink, Inc. - would raise revenue to keep the shuttle on the track.

RESCUED!
Loop Bus, Dinky. The Inner Loop bus will continue indefinitely under the protective wing of Mercer County.

Princeton Borough and Township learned last Wednesday that the Commuter Operating Agency of the state Department of Transportation has approved subsidies for both the Inner Loop and the dinky shuttle service to Princeton Junction.

Take-over of the Inner Loop was effective immediately. Municipal governments had money to run it through January. The fate of the Outer Loop will be up for discussion by the COA at a meeting next Wednesday. If a favorable decision is forthcoming, the Outer Loop will be linked into a new route incorporating Hightstown, West Windsor and Princeton.

Under the new system, the DOT will pick up 75 percent of the loop's deficit, and the county 25 percent.

"This is a real breakthrough," said Freeholder Barbara Sigmund, former member of Princeton Borough Council, "it's the first time an in-town service has been made part of Mercer Metro."

Princeton may now, if governing bodies wish, spend bus money on promotion, Mrs. Sigmund said. She mentioned a possible ride-n-shop rebate under a co-operative plan with merchants, free rides for the elderly and perhaps a way to make Mercer Metro's buses more identifiable for Princeton riders.

The dinky extension means that the shuttle will continue under a subsidy arrangement with Conrail until June 30. This gives the dinky citizens

RESIGNS AS TRUSTEE
Councilman Takes Step. Borough Council member William K. Selden has resigned as a member of the board of trustees of the Princeton Prospect Foundation, he announced this week.

Formed in the 1960s, the Foundation endeavors to encourage the University's undergraduate eating clubs on Prospect Street to be more devoted to cultural and educational pursuits.

One - Tower Club - set up study areas and a small library and so re-structured its activities that it was granted tax-free status. Cloister and Charter have been granted tax reductions because of their changed emphasis. Many clubs have become affiliated with the Princeton Prospect Foundation and Mr. Selden said he feared that, although it is ultimately the county that approves tax status, he wanted to be free of actual or apparent conflict of interest.

PHS Budget Cuts

asked the cost of freshman athletics and was told $9,000, he pointed out that the schools had just bought a $4,500 car for Mrs. Francis, and had agreed to teacher sabbaticals.

"In a time of declining verbal skills, how can you think of reducing English?" demanded Joseph Silverstein. "We have a good system now, but we'll go downhill quickly."

"So we really need new lockers?" asked student Stephanie Widmor, commenting on $20,000 allocated to this category, "I'd rather see more classes and less maintenance."

She also questioned the need for substitutes, smilingly admitting that "we don't do anything -- it's a waste of time!" when a substitute is at the teacher's desk.

It's state law, Mr. Petrillo told her. When board member Dale Madden, his eye on economy, asked why after-school athletes had to attend regular phys. ed. classes as well, Mr. Petrillo said that was state law, too.

A parent said, "I suggest we try to circumvent that law," and this drew the wrath of Mrs. Eleanor Angoff, who reminded the speaker that many students were present.

"We should be showing them how to change the law, not circumvent it," she retorted.

Other members of the audience objected to the dropping of independent study, but Mr. Petrillo said it took too much teacher time.

Sabbaticals A Target. As in previous years, teacher sabbaticals were the target of much criticism, and Mrs. Tatle Hunter asked why the PREA didn't offer to re-open contract negotiations and "give a little," perhaps eliminating sabbaticals.

"We have high salaries because this is a senior faculty," replied PREA president Martin Schneiderman, "and sabbaticals are worth the money."

The board had already informed the audience that teachers will get a 6.7 percent raise next year; secretaries, 7 percent and administrators three percent. Teacher sabbaticals are down from $62,659, and have cost this year $61,212.50.

Elimination of teachers under a tight budget means new teachers are dismissed because long-term teachers have tenure. "It would be better to keep good new teachers like Robert J. Komada, who teaches 'Harvard physics' than to have new lockers," was the comment of Mrs. Rosalind Frisch.

A sharp critic of budgeting procedures, Mrs. Frisch pointed out later that the teachers had already received 6.75 percent raises in the current year for a high school teacher salary increase of $14,200 -- from $1,188,700 to $1,202,900 -- despite a teacher cutback at the school.

She also points to a current guidance salary budget of $110,800 -- and an increase to $112,150, even though Mr. Petrillo says there will be one less counsellor. She calculates an average salary of $22,430 for guidance counsellors.

"There is no room in this budget for ANYTHING but salaries," she says, "They have eight-tenths of a social worker for $18,300."

She also challenges the $20,000 for lockers, $18,000 for repairing the athletic fields and the decreases in textbook and teaching materials accounts.

Money for science textbooks has been reduced from $3,800 to $3,000; for science equipment from $3,100 to $2,500; for language texts from $2,200 to $1,400; for social studies texts from $1,000 to zero; for industrial arts, from $200 to $100; phys. ed. equipment from $2,400 to $2,000.

However, from a zero amount spent for math books in the current budget, the amount goes to $1,000.

The athletic budget has been dropped from $107,400 to $100,500. In this account, salaries for EPES (extra pay for extra services), a trainer and part of the director's salary, have been cut from $72,900 to $68,300. Equipment, transportation and officials' pay, has been cut from $34,500 to $32,200.

But individual items in these accounts, Mrs. Frisch says, have actually been increased. She points to $12,600 for football, compared to the current $6,900; $7,100 for spring track, compared to the present budget allotting $2,400.

On the non-athletic side, the proposed budget has $12,000, compared to $14,700 in the present budget.

Mr. Petrillo outlined the budget to high school students in two assemblies Tuesday. Students were invited to talk with administration and present their ideas this Wednesday.

"Where Service Counts"

Environmental Protection Agency Demands Redesign of 3 Elements of Stony Brook Sewer

"A terrible setback!" exclaimed Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley at his Tuesday press conference, announcing an unexpected action by Federal Environmental Protection Agency officials last Friday demanding re-design of three elements of the downstream Stony Brook sewer system.

The South Brunswick connection to the sewer plant must be scaled down in size and re-designed.

The Millstone forcemain must also be scaled down and re-designed.

The connection from Alexander Road to Harrison Street has been deferred indefinitely.

Plans have been with the EPA since July. Apparently the designs didn't jibe with the EPA's own population projections.

"It's naive or irresponsible or both, to let this kind of time go by," Mayor Cawley said heatedly. "The people's money is being wasted!"

This downstream section has been the so-called "safe" section.

"Don't worry, there aren't any problems' we've been told all along," the mayor continued bitterly. "Now, it turns out the state, which told us not to worry, doesn't know anything about this at all."

A state freeze late in the fall had halted funding for this section, just when Stony Brook communities thought everything was ready. According to Mayor Cawley, that money has now been thawed and certified by the state.

For Princeton, it means a longer period of time, when Borough and Township will have to pay each month, starting in November, for a newly completed sewer plant that isn't being used. The Borough had calculated three to six months. The mayor said he doesn't know, now, how long it may be.

After hearing the jolting news last Friday, Robert Harvey, the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority executive, immediately set up a meeting with EPA officials for next Tuesday in New York.

An emergency meeting of the Authority was then scheduled for this Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

Last Tuesday, Borough Council decided to employ Princeton's favorite device, a study committee, as a divining rod to discover the best plan for sewerage the upstream communities.

As a result of last week's Council meeting, which heard both sides of Plans A, D, and X until midnight, Samuel Hamil, executive director of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council, was asked to analyze the plans and report to Council in February.

The suggestion came from Council member William Selden and was gratefully accepted by a Council anxious to stave off still another decision. Council has already voted its approval of Plan A, but two members abstained in that vote for lack of information. Last Tuesday's meeting was called at the request of opponents of Plan A who hope for a last-ditch reversal by Council.

Mr. Hamil will be joined in his analysis by Thomas Cawley, the Borough's representative on the Authority, and William Starr, the Township representative. Mr. Cawley favors Plan A, Mr. Starr opposes it. Plan A calls for a single sewer treatment plant -- the one now under construction on River Road. Plans X and D require three plants.

TOPICS Of The Town

BOHEN TO WASHINGTON
In H.E.W. Fred Bohen, active in the Jimmy Carter campaign in New Jersey, will be named the executive secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in the new Carter administration, he announced this week.

The job means Mr. Bohen will be chief of staff to Joseph Califano, the HEW secretary-designate. Formal announcement of Mr. Bohen's appointment will be made following Mr. Califano's own confirmation.

In his new capacity, Mr. Bohen will head a staff of some 40 professionals and 75 career supporting staff, "The Executive Secretariat," as the office is called, is the point through which all policy papers and correspondence is cleared, and staff work done for the Secretary, preparing for meetings and decisions, Mr. Bohen said. The position was created in 1969.

HEW is second only to the Department of Defense in size, Mr. Bohen said, with a force of 110,000 and a budget of $140 billion.

Mr. Bohen worked for Mr. Califano in the Johnson Administration, and is also an associate of Hale Champion, the designated secretary of HEW, and former vice-president of finance at Harvard.

The Bohens expect to remain, at least through this school year, at their home on Fitzrandolph Road, and Mr. Bohen will commute to Princeton on weekends. Mrs. Bohen is Associate Dean of Students at Princeton University.

PAY BOROUGH TAXES?

Picture Begins to Form. A Borough tax rate of $5.03 to $5.13 compared to the present $5.02, was outlined Sunday afternoon to a scant audience of about 18 people who responded to the Borough's invitation to come and talk about what you want in the Borough budget.

A second such afternoon will be held Sunday, January 30, again at 3 p.m.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said the ten-cent range is related to how much surplus Council wants to put in. Right now, there is $500,000 in surplus, chiefly because of favorable settlement of an insurance case. Council may decide to leave about $215,000 in surplus, the mayor said.

He added that the Borough is $4,000 to $5,000 below the five percent increase imposed as a budget cap by the state. The cap has been the controlling factor in preparing the budget, he said.

The mayor added it was "scary" to realize that, if the Borough hadn't gotten $89,000 as its share of the sale of the sewer plant property to the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority, "we'd be looking for $80,000 to chop out."

The $5.03-$5.13 would mean a local tax of 85 cents to 95 cents; county tax of $1.91 and estimated school tax of $2.27. The current comparable figures are 97 cents local; $1.82 county and $2.20 schools, plus 3 cents senior citizens, not applicable this year because the state is picking it up.

Council figures the school

EFFECTIVE READING

by
The Speedreader

Reading for me, as for so many, is a way of life - filling the day from the morning newspapers to late night "required reading." As all my interests, both professional and personal seem to depend upon the written word, I was forced by the pressures of time to be increasingly selective and to read mainly for urgently needed information or for the satisfaction of some obsessive curiosity

But the relaxation, the being lost in pleasurable reading, is a joy and a rich refreshment that no person should allow themselves to bypass. Time has to be found to share vicariously the thoughts, the perceptions, the vision of the creative writer

Time however is not an ally in this busy world of today. Nationwide Speedreading Academy's fine course will fill the void.

Happily it will increase the availability of time so that you can complete all the reading you have set out to do. Those who haven't the habit of speedreading find the going more difficult than those in whom a healthy appetite for it has been developed.

Just as practice helps a golfer's score, so practice in our speedreading method helps a college student meet the volume and complexity of everyday assignments. Our speedreading course also has great potential value for nurturing good reading habits in pre college youths and the business professional.

It is obvious what it can mean in helping you through a lifetime of dependence on reading in all aspects of life tax will go up 14 cents as the next step in the phase-in, but will drop seven cents as a result of other factors.

The budget will be introduced February 8, for public hearing March 8.

FIVE ARE FINED

For Speeding. Five Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough court for speeding.

Claudia LaPlaca, 29 Cleveland Lane, was fined $36 and $5 for contempt of court; Harry Y. Precheur, 4345 Provinceline Road, paid $18; Lionel Goodman, 52 Sturgis Way and Karen J. Marrow, 121 Birch Avenue, $20 each, and George Carver, 42 Shaftsbury Avenue, Hopewell, $16. Nancy S. Connell, 31 Castle Howard Court, weeded $35 for leaving the scene of an accident.

Others: Maria Rizzo, 20 Library Place, $25, red light; Meril Dobrin, 117 Linden Lane, $25, unregistered car; Terry R. Cunningham, 12 Quarry Street, $15 and $5 contempt of court, overdue inspection and Mary Davis, 22 Green Street, $15, flashing red light.

SUBURBAN BUS STRUCK

By Skidding Car. Considering the road conditions, Princeton was remarkably free of traffic accidents last week.

One resulting in injuries took place around five Sunday afternoon when the car of Thomas S. Baker, 32, The Hun School began to skid out of control on Stockton moments after it had entered the road at Edgerstoune. His car slid over the center line and struck a Suburban Transit bus operated by John G. Remus Jr., 38, of Bricktown.

Mr. Baker was treated at the Princeton Medical Center for chest injuries. His car was described by police as a total loss. Ptl. William Potts, who investigated, said that the bus driver, seeing the Baker car out of control, tried to swerve to the right to avoid the collision and in so doing struck a Public Service pole.

Deep Freeze

Mercury zipped in a Fast, downhill slide "Great when it's slippery! A really cool ride!"

When it's 44 in Alaska and 38 in Miami the world must be upside-down, and may be it is with the weather we have been having and will continue to have around here. Alaska, enjoying its warmest temperatures in decades, recorded 44 degrees earlier this week, while the Florida "sun spot" was definitely not enjoying anything.

Readings of a few degrees either side of zero have prevailed around Princeton area and are expected to continue for the next few days.

Friday it may warm up just enough, so we can get some more of -- you guessed it -- snow. But that is just a possibility at this point.

Mr. Remus escaped injury but a passenger, Jane McKenzie of New York City, complained of back pains. The front and undercarriage of the bus were damaged and it was removed to a company repair garage.

FIREPLACE BLAMED

In Early Morning Fire. Damage was confined to the wall area around a fireplace in an early morning fire Sunday at the home of Morroe Berger, 72 Clover Lane.

Ptl. Robert Nielsen, who responded to a 3:39 call, observed smoke coming from the wall and a general alarm was sounded at 3:46. Firemen evacuated the occupants when the interior of the house filled with smoke.

Mr. Berger told police that they had had a small fire in the fireplace that evening. It was nearly out, he said, when he retired at 12:30 in the morning.

TWO TIRES STOLEN

From Parked Car. Two tires and wheels valued at $140 were stolen Monday night from a Township resident's car parked in a Princeton University lot on Roper Lane near the math-physics complex.

The victim told police that as he left a lab around 10:30 and arrived at his car he discovered it had been propped up by a log and both tires on the right side missing.

A Princeton resident reported the theft of four hubcaps valued at $210 from his car while it was parked Friday in the Tulane West lot.

In the Township, a stereo cassette and two speakers were removed from a van parked in the Lawrence Apartments lot north of West Drive. A vent window had been broken to get inside and the interior of the van was ransacked. Owner Lawrence Peck told police the cassette and speakers were valued at $155.

THREE WALLETS STOLEN
In Separate Thefts. "The trend before was to take money and leave the credit cards and identification behind."

In listing three wallet thefts, Chief Michael Carnevale reported this week that now thieves seem to be keeping the credit cards and ID as well. He added that he felt merchants ought to be aware of this new trend and exercise caution whenever accepting a buyer's identification.

In two office thefts last week, an East Windsor resident was away from her unlocked, unattended office in the 20 Nassau Street building for only 15 minutes. When she returned her purse was missing.

Police checked the area and recovered the purse, minus its wallet, on a third floor landing. The victim lost 75 cents, three credit cards and her driver's license.

The same day, a Hillsborough resident reported the theft of her wallet from her office on Wither- spoon Street. There was no forced entry, police said.

The victim's black wallet

Figures Corrected

It has been learned that the figure given by Principal George Petrillo as the number of vocational students allotted to Princeton High School by the Mercer County Vocational School is not correct.

Mr. Petrillo said that the high school is allotted only 19 places; however, Bruce White, of the county vocational school, says that this year, Princeton's allotment is 32 places. In addition, any student who wants to attend the vocational school for a second year, is automatically allowed to continue.

SMITH WON'T RUN

For School Board. J.B. Smith announced this week that he will not run for a second term on the school board. He cited increasing business demands -- he drives 50 miles a day each way to his job -- as the "sole reason" for his decision. Dietrich Meyerhofer and Rosalind Frisch are now the two announced candidates for the two Township positions.

In a statement, Mr. Smith urged citizens to take more interest in the schools, and took exception to remarks by municipal officials on the competence of school personnel.

"Princeton has an excellent school system," he said, "staffed with fine teachers, administrators and business personnel. It is emphatically through no lack of faith or dissatisfaction with these that I am not running."

"There are two matters of concern I want to mention as I end my term on the Board. First, I urge the citizens of Princeton to take a deeper interest in their schools. I perceive an apathy in the community as shown by such actions as the rejection of the school budget in 1976 with only minimal attendance at public budget hearings and meetings."

"Another example is the small attendance at the general public meeting to discuss what characteristics our new school system superintendent should have. The turnout at the recent high school budget hearing was encouraging and I hope it indicates a trend."

"The second matter which distresses me is the friction between the Borough and Township governing bodies and the Board of Education. There is currently a disagreement on the school budget, and that is all right."

"What I object to are the public remarks by some of the Township and Borough officials concerning the competence of the school personnel and the propriety of business procedures. I believe time spent by them in the schools and school business office would show them that their opinions are not justified."

"In conclusion, I wish to thank all those in the schools for their kindness and cooperation during my term on the Board. I hope I have been able to contribute in some way to the operation and betterment of the schools. I shall continue to follow their progress with interest."

EXHIBIT PLANNED

On Princeton Inventors. The third annual National Inventor's Day Exhibit will be presented at the Public Library during the week of February 6 through 13. This year's theme will be "Famous Princeton Inventors."

The exhibit will deal primarily with famous inventors of the past who have lived and worked in the Princeton area, however, some living inventors will be included if space permits. Attorney Richard C. Woodbridge, the Chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the New Jersey Patent Law Association, will be working with Robert Staples, Director of the Princeton Public Library, to set up the exhibit.

Members of the public who would like to suggest nominations for the "Famous Princeton Inventors" exhibit are cordially invited to contact Mr. Woodbridge at 924-2420.

COMMITTEE TO STUDY
Recombinant Genetic Research. What are the implications for the Princeton community, if Princeton University permits recombinant genetic research?

A citizens committee will be appointed next week by Borough and Township officials to discuss that question. In light of these coming deliberations, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley announced Monday night, University President William Bowen has agreed to ask his trustees this Saturday to defer a final decision on whether to permit re-combinant research.

FOR BIOCHEMISTRY: Princeton University's proposed new Biochemical Sciences building will join the present Frick laboratory and will face William Street. A future addition is projected to the rear. The University plans to talk about site plans and sub-division with the Princeton Regional Planning Board in February, leading to a wrap-up in March. Any so-called "P-3" work in re-combinant genetics, assuming the University decides to undertake such research, would be done in the new building and the Mollat-Guyot building down Washington Road. University officials point out that just because a lab meets P-3 standards, it doesn't necessarily mean that re-combinant research would be done there.

At Monday night's joint meeting of Borough and Township governing bodies, it was agreed that a public meeting sponsored by the municipalities, will be held in early February. The public meeting held last Wednesday, was sponsored by the University.

The citizens group will be composed of men and women in such fields as medicine, public health, biochemistry, the law, public affairs, education or communications.

Nominations for the group will be made by a committee consisting of David Blair for Township Committee; William Selden, Borough Council; Dr. David Hildick-Smith, Borough Board of Health; Melvin A. Benarde, Township Board of Health and Regional Health Commission and Philip Minis, Township Environmental Commission.

They will give municipal officials next Monday night the names of people who would be willing to serve.

combinant research. In this research, scientists take from one cell a fragment of DNA - the basic material that determines the hereditary characteristics of all known cells -- and incorporate it into another forming a new "re-combinant" gene.

Congenital defects of the heart or circulatory system occur in only a small percentage of children and are responsible for only about two percent of all cardiac patients. Some of the causes of such defects are not known. However, some contributory factors are known and can be prevented. In addition, some of the defects can be treated effectively with surgery. It is known that if a woman has an attack of the German measles during the early months of pregnancy her child may be born with a defective heart or other defects as well.

The University released a report December 9 declaring that, if it decided to proceed with re-combinant DNA research, it would follow guidelines even more stringent than those established in June by the National Institutes of Health for such research.

Princeton would only do research in the so-called P-3, or moderate risk, category. It was explained that laboratories at the P-1 and P-2 risk level are labs like those at Princeton High School or the Medical Center. So far as anyone knows, there is only one P-4 research center, the Federal government's Fort Dietrich.

There isn't any P-1 or P-2-level research at Princeton University at the moment, and the University has said it will not do primate DNA research.

Professor Robert May, chairman of the University's Biohazards Committee, told Wednesday's audience that the benefits of this research outweigh the hazards, if the strict guidelines are followed.

Fear of Unknown. At Monday night's meeting of municipal officials, Dr. Benarde said fear of the unknown was the prime issue, and he declared bluntly that the University's "poor" report, jargonized and highly technical, report had fostered this fear.

"The University seems to have forgotten the public exists," he said, charging some faculty with "cavalier" remarks about the public.

Three problems -- waste disposal, air pollution and human carriage into the community -- are paramount, he said.

"If this problem is dealt with so people can understand it, the issue isn't as devilish as everyone thinks," he continued, "re-combination is a question of mutation and we've been coping with mutation for thousands of years -- we wouldn't be here, otherwise."

Township Mayor Josie Hall asked the group to make sure Princeton is represented at a meeting in March in Washington to be sponsored by the National Academy of Science. The theme, she said, is how lay people and governing bodies, state and local, can be involved.

"Is there anyway the University can be stopped, if we think it should be?" municipal attorney Gordon Griffin was asked.

Mr. Griffin said broad powers of public health and welfare, granted to municipalities by the state, might be pertinent.

University spokesmen repeatedly pointed out that many other institutions -- M.I.T. and Stanford among them -- are already moving ahead. Harvard has been held back by objections from the Cambridge community.

It was also pointed out that NIH guidelines apply only to projects funded with NIH money, and that commercial laboratories, such as Squibb, or smaller ones less eager than Squibb to adhere to strict standards of control, may quickly move into the re-combinant research field.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

At Stuart This Sunday. At the winter open House for Prospective Students at Stuart Country Day School Sunday, at 2 p.m., students and their parents will have an opportunity to see "Stuart in action" through the slide-tape presentation; to speak with Sister Judith Garson, Headmistress, and to tour the school with members of the Student Admissions Committee.

Mrs. Kenneth Keuffel, Director of Admissions, will greet the prospective students and their parents. Sister M. de Lourdes Roesel, Curriculum Director, will answer any questions concerning the scholastic program at Stuart.

Representatives of the Lower, Middle and Upper Schools as well as Sister Victoria Rajca, Assistant in Admissions and faculty advisor of the Student Admissions Committee, will attend. Leslie Johnson is the president of the S.A.C. and Michele Newman is the vice-president.

Numerous requests last year for information about Stuart from parents who lived too near for bus transportation or in an area not covered by a bus route indicated a need for additional transportation.

Now an expanded bus system covers the new areas as far north as New Brunswick as far east as Cranbury and Twin Rivers, (stopping at Hightstown, Dutch Neck, Plainsboro, Princeton Junction, and the East and West Windsors) as well as the previously established routes as far south as Trenton and Yardley and as far west as Hopewell.

From Russia: Support for Quarry Park

In Tashkent, U.S.S.R. on Christmas Day, a former Princeton resident stood in line for an hour and a half, so that he could send telegrams to Borough Council members urging them to acquire the entire 4.2 acres of land off Spruce Street for Quarry Park.

Rob McChesney pushed strongly for a park on the old quarry site when he lived on Spruce Street. Now doing research on Persian manuscripts in Tashkent, in Uzbek, U.S.S.R., Mr. McChesney feels, if anything, more strongly than ever about Quarry Park.

"Standing in line," he wrote to Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, "I was struck by the enormous incongruity of what I was there for... The Russians have their elected officials, technically speaking, but the idea of trying to influence the way they make decisions and, more, to entertain even the slightest hope that one's own opinion makes any difference whatsoever, is completely alien."

"Read in the comfort of Princeton, it sounds trite and cliché to say how blessed we are. From the bleakness of Tashkent, it has real meaning."

The McChesneys live, he continued, in "a faceless, featureless concrete ten-story, 196-apartment building." Others just like it are neighbors. There is no recreation space, except in the street, where children were playing hockey, as Mr. McChesney wrote.

"I doubt there is one person in our building who would not agree that facilities are totally inadequate, but more importantly, there is not one person who could do anything about it, want to or not."

"It is this that makes the Quarry Park so dear to me."

private family counseling practice with her husband, Dr. Morris Parmet, a child psychiatrist. She is also the mother of two and a grandmother. "Most parents do not realize that sexual development in children involves the same phase related progression as occurs in other areas of development, and that adult sexual behavior is a re-experiencing of all of these stages from infancy through adulthood."

The Mothers' Dialogues are an ongoing workshop series which offer a professional speaker on the last Wednesday of the month, followed by an informal discussion of the topic the next week. CRIMINAL IS TOPIC
Of Saturday Workshop. Crime is increasing at a rate that alarms everyone. What can the average citizen do about it? Tightening protection comes immediately to mind, but one of the most important aspects of crime, the individual criminal, receives the least attention.

Little is done to improve the community where the criminal was reared and where usually his first inclinations to crime were born. When convicted he is "put away" and forgotten by almost everyone. Eventually he is released -- without substantial money, without a job, and without friends other than those who drew him into crime. No wonder the rate of crime repeating -- recidivism -- is so high.

The Community Council for Criminal Justice, a non-profit organization incorporated in New Jersey, seeks to do something about this problem. It conducts meetings throughout New Jersey to acquaint citizens with the situation. Its central concern is to bring to individual prison inmates the realization that there are those outside who care for them individually, and that there still is possibility for them of a different and more satisfying kind of life.

The Council's strategy is to establish individual contacts, by exchange of letters and by visits, between volunteer visitors and individual prison inmates. Paul Swedlund of 310 Emmons Drive, President of the Council, will conduct a public workshop on the problem of crime and criminals in New Jersey Saturday at 10 in the Palmer Square building of the Nassau Presbyterian Church. Those who come should bring a bag lunch; the church will serve coffee and tea.

Mr. Swedlund is a former officer of the United States Navy and a former businessman who is now deeply dedicated to this problem. The public is invited to hear of this work. Attendance commits no one to volunteer for involvement.

LOCH NESS IS TOPIC

Of Hightstown Library Talk. Is there really a monster in Loch Ness? And if so, could it actually be a survivor from the dinosaur eras? These are some of the mysteries which will be touched upon in a slide lecture on "Loch Ness and Its Neighbors" to be held at the Hightstown Memorial Branch, Mercer County Library.

Dr. James Morse, a Hightstown resident, will give an illustrated talk Thursday, January 27, at 7:30 on the Loch Ness area of Scotland which he recently visited. An international scientific mission has been stationed at lakeside studying the phenomenon, and Dr. Morse will report on his observations there as well as exhibiting a painting he made of the Loch. For further information, call the library at 448-1474.

CHANGE OVER JAN. 31

At Franklin Township School. George H. McLaughlin, supervisor of Transportation, reminds parents of youngsters currently attending kindergarten in Franklin Township Public Schools, that Monday, January 31 is session changeover day.

Morning classes, which currently attend school from 8:40 to 11:10 will begin attending in the afternoons (11:55 to 2:25) and vice versa.

Mr. McLaughlin also reports that students in the district are participating in various school bus safety programs. All pupils take part in emergency evacuation drills twice a year and additional instructions are being provided in classrooms. The supervisor has distributed materials on bus safety and evacuation procedures and is currently meeting with principals and faculty members in order to schedule pupil safety training programs.

$2.5 MILLION IS GOAL

Ol Day School Campaign. The Campaign for Princeton Day School has set a goal of $2.5 million in capital over the next three years. The three main objectives are $1.4 million to endow faculty salaries, $400,000 to endow scholarships, and $700,000 to renovate space and construct a small addition to the main building for the middle school.

The general co-chairmen of the Campaign are Sidney Blaxill and Dr. William P. Burks, who announced that pledges recorded in advance of the Campaign's official start amount to $425,000. The chairman of the leadership gifts committee is Newell B. Woodworth, and Mrs. Thomas W. Eglin will head the special gifts committee. Co-chairmen for the community gifts committee are Mrs. Richard deJ. Osborne and Graham M. Brush, Jr.

The Headmaster, Douglas O. McClure, remarked, "Our recently completed Long Range Plan, the result of more than two years of work by a committee of trustees and faculty, has outlined what we foresee as the school's needs over the next ten years. The most important recommendation that the Plan makes is to increase our endowment substantially in order to insure the quality and the long range continuation of the school's many programs in a context of a sound and conservative financial operation. The campaign we are now beginning is essential to that goal," he concluded.

BATTLES ARE TOPIC

RECYCLING SCHEDULE

Princeton Borough: Wednesday, January 26 CLEAR GLASS

Princeton Township: Re-cycling shed open in the northeast corner of the Shopping Center from 8 to 4:30: bundled or tied newspapers; magazines bundled separately and placed in newspaper bin; glass, clean and separated by color; cans, washed and sorted according to kind, aluminum (beer and soda) or tin (food) which should be flattened.

West Windsor Township: Recycling sheds and bins behind Township Garage (Hightstown and Wallace Roads) AT ANY TIME: newspapers and magazines bundled separately; glass (clean, separated by color); all types of cans (crushed, cleaned and dented)

Montgomery Township: Second Saturday of each month (Feb. 12) at Montgomery Township Hall, Route 206. Glass: clear or colored separated Newspapers (no magazines) clean and bundled or bagged. Metal aluminum, bi-metal and tin (steel), clean separated, cans with tops and bottoms removed and flattened.

Pennington: Second Saturday of each month behind the firehouse, Broemel Place. Same instructions as Montgomery Township above.

proved a $150 yearly tuition increase beginning next fall.

The hike in undergraduate tuition, which will also affect Evening School and graduate programs, will be coupled with a boost in room and board fees of $125 per academic year. Currently, Rider's yearly tuition is $2,400. Room and board costs are $1,300.

In an open letter to students, Rider College President Dr. Frank N. Elliott cited the inflationary spiral in operating costs as the prime factor in the College's action.

"Inflation is very much a part of our nation's daily life and it is affecting the College every bit as much as it does the individual family," Mr. Elliott said. "We can reduce costs in some areas, but in others, the utilities in particular, increases simply cannot be escaped."

Emphasizing that tuition income at Rider accounts for only 75 to 80 per cent of operating costs, the balance supplied from endowment, special programs and gift support, Mr. Elliott said the increase "will simple enable us to maintain the present quality of existing programs."

Rider's chief executive added, however, that if the State of New Jersey fully funds the Aid to Independent Colleges Act, "it will mean approximately $120,000 in additional support for scholarship aid and other essential academic needs."

He also urged Rider students from New Jersey and their families to follow the debate on the forthcoming Boohar Commission report (on financing N.J. post-secondary education) "with care and concern."

Calling the State's present method of financing higher education "archaic and illogical," since public institutions are supplied with 80 per cent of operation costs and most capital expenses, Mr. Elliott was hopeful that the Boohar Commission would recommend allocating a greater proportion of State educational funds directly to students rather than to institutions.

Such a program, according to Mr. Elliott, would give students freedom to choose either a public or private education and alter a situation "that forces many New Jersey residents to attend a public institution for financial rather than educational reasons."

“I was driving down Mt. Lucas in that snowstorm, and all of a sudden....”

It's going to be a long winter.

Drivers who live in Central New Jersey aren't used to day after day of snow and ice, and they forget driving techniques from one storm to the next.

Two experts---Sgt. Anthony Nini of the Township police, and Lt. John J. Bellow Jr. of the Borough force---have some suggestions for you, as you make your way through the drifts.

1. Don't drive at all in bad weather unless you absolutely have to. "I've pulled people out of drifts who say, well, it was such a pretty storm we thought we'd take a drive..." Sgt. Nini says.
2. Be prepared! Make sure your car is in top mechanical condition, with a good strong battery: you're using your defroster and your heater, after all.
3. Have new, good tires, snow tires or studded tires. Better still, Sgt. Nini believes, are chains. "If you're on a hill on Mt. Lucas and you have chains, you'll get going."
4. Spinning your wheels? "Put your car in highest gear -- second, if you have manual transmission, 'drive' if you have automatic," advises Lt. Bellow, "the gears will turn slower and there'll be more power going to the wheels."
5. Slow down! So the speed limit says 45? On wet or ice, that's far too fast.
5. Don't tailgate. "I get so mad when I see these TV tire commercials!" explodes Sgt. Nini, "they make people believe you really can stop short and sudden the way they do on TV, and it just isn't so!"
6. Down-shift, if you're going down hill; in bad weather slip into low if you have an automatic transmission.
7. Get up earlier, and get every window of your car clear of snow. New Jersey law requires clear windows. "I see people driving little kids to school in a snowstorm, crawling along Valley Road with just a peephole in the windshield to peer through," Sgt. Nini says. ...and Lt. Bellow warns: "If you're in an accident and your windows aren't clear, you'll get a ticket."
8. Skidding? Don't hit the brakes. Let up on the accelerator and steer toward the skid. If you brake, you'll go off Mt. Lucas for sure. Pump, with short, rapid jabs at the brake pedal.
9. Stuck? If you're in slush, try to rock the car. Start VERY slowly, giving the tires time to grip the snow or ice. If you have a bucket of sand--not salt--in the back, great! When you park on a street, try to pick a place free of snow and slush without the ominous ruts made by some other car that did get stuck. Keep your wheels straight, advises Lt. Bellow: you'll bury in, if they are turned.
10. Hopeless? If you're really stuck or your car breaks down, don't go off and leave it. Tell the police so they can help, or get a wrecker. If you leave your car, people could hit it, or it can tie up traffic. If police have to tow it, you'll get a bill---and a ticket.

WORST STREETS

Mt. Lucas Road, Cherry Hill, The Great Road, Rosedale, State Road, Breuer's Hill on the Lawrenceville Road. Rosedale is one of the worst because it's a Mercer County Road and the county is always late getting around to it. Princeton Township's own road crew usually takes care of this curving, hilly artery.

Speeding Ticket Unfair.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I support the police as I realize the difficult job they have to do in this modern day society. However, when I needed aid for my ill daughter, not authority, a local officer brought sharply into focus why the police fail in their relationship with the public.

I have a daughter with a major health problem (similar to Hubert Humphrey's). I was called urgently by the school nurse to bring the necessary equipment to her at the school and my anxiety I believe I exceeded the 25 m.p.h. speed limit. The police eventually caught up with me, after they too must have exceeded this limit, and I pulled over after reaching the school property to explain my haste.

I explained the urgency and to my amazement the officer considered the issuing of the ticket of more importance than the health of my 11-year-old daughter. In my explanation to him I said I would immediately return after giving the nurse the equipment—a matter of 3 minutes. I had always believed that the police were here to give aid as well as protect the citizens. Is our society so sick that the issuing of a speeding ticket more important than the health of a child? God help us.

Continue Lacrosse at PHS

To the Editor of Town Topics:
We are writing this letter because of our concern for the Princeton High School boys Lacrosse team. We have some valid reasons for believing that our funds and support from the Princeton Regional School Board should not be discontinued. Our reasons are as stated:

1. Last year there were over 50 people on the boys Lacrosse team, both squads, J.V. and Varsity, included.
2. The Princeton High School Lacrosse team has had increasingly successful years, in terms of both its popularity and its seasonal game record.
3. Last year Princeton High School was provided with new uniforms for its Lacrosse team, and to cut the Lacrosse team's funds from the budget would be uneconomical in the sense that the money spent last year on these uniforms would be wasted.

Many of us feel that to cut the Lacrosse program at Princeton High School would be a major set-back to a program which has just begun to establish itself as a very popular sport. We urge the public to support us in our plea to continue the Lacrosse program at PHS!!!!

Advice to School Board.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Congratulations to Council Members Marty Lombardo, Gus Esher and Nelson van den Blink for opposing our arrogant and spendthrift School Board!

Here's how to save the high school extra-curricular and instructional program:

1. Eliminate at least one of the 3.5 vice principal jobs.
2. Refuse the salary increases being demanded by administrators.
3. Require those instructors at or near the top of the pay scale (around $22,000 per 182-day "year") to teach more than 200 minutes per day. (200 minutes per day, under the present contract!)
4. Eliminate sabbaticals, bear down on staff absenteeism ("sick leave").
5. Eliminate pay differentials for employees who have amassed credits or phony advanced degrees in "education."
6. Require department coordinators to teach more than two or three classes per day and reduce the pay differentials they get for "coordinating."

Lop-sided contracts can be and have been re-negotiated. Let's re-negotiate ours (no outside experts, please).

Unsatisfactory, though tenured, employees can be removed. Last year the N.J. courts upheld the dismissal of 6 tenured "educators" who weren't doing a fair job. All that's needed is some gumption. Schools are for young people, not for greedy employees.

Let's get some clear-thinking and honest people to run for school board! People of the quality of Council members Marty, Gus and Nelson. People of the quality of School Board member Robin Wallach. Let's not short-change the students; let's stop robbing the taxpayers!

Town Needs Electric Buses.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
It is a shame to have noisy, smelly buses when we can have electric buses that make barely any noise. They do not pollute at all. If we do get them, every one can enjoy Princeton and won't have to hold their breath when the buses go by. The buses I am speaking of are not the electric buses you may be thinking of. They are not trolleys. These buses look like gas buses but they don't run on gas. They do not have rails in the ground because they have regular rubber tires.

If we have these buses the town would be more enjoyable and people won't have to hold their breath when the bus goes by (nor block their ears).

Questions on Interest Conflict.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter sent to Princeton mayors Robert Cawley and Josie Hall.

At a recent committee meeting of the League of Women Voters, we discussed the issue of the principles by which governmental board appointments are made and the related question of conflict of interest that was raised by Mr. Frothingham's letter in last week's newspapers. May we share some of our questions with you?

We felt that some of Mr. Frothingham's arguments were persuasive, in so far as he felt the appointment of two individuals who are in the real estate profession to sit on the Planning Board as unwise.

Since the major role of the Planning Board is the drawing up of the master plans which will guide the future development of our town, and the writing of the zoning ordinances that will implement these plans, is there not created by their appointment a greater potential for conflict of interest when citizens whose personal interest is in real estate and land development sit and decide those very same interests for the town?

It is countered that members will be required to abstain from voting if there is a conflict. But shouldn't they also be required to refrain from participating in the discussions. If this happens too often, they cannot serve as effective members who can share all the duties and responsibilities relegated to the Board.

Another point that we felt should be considered is that the whole area of defining "conflict of interest" is a difficult one, and open to many interpretations. Therefore, would the decision of the Planning Board with just the appearance of conflict of interest be more vulnerable to criticism and be more liable to have unhappy citizens or potential developers take their cases to court.

This could lead to increased costs to the taxpayer in legal action, as well as the inherent costs of delay.

We felt that it might be instructive to research the makeup of the past Planning and Zoning Boards and see what kinds of jobs and professions are represented. Perhaps we lean too heavily on other professions that may prevent an unbiased view of issues.

We address these questions also to Mr. William Miller, the attorney for the Planning Board for his legal interpretations to these questions, specifically that of defining "conflict of interest," of situations when members are asked to abstain from voting, and the probability of increased liability for legal suits, and the precedent of having real estate interests represented on the Planning Board.

In the next few months, the Planning Board is to come before the public to present the proposed new Master Plan. It is, therefore, very timely to discuss the whole issue of appointments since it will have a far-reaching effect on the future of Princeton.

Snow Removal Slow Here.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
As I was listening to the news early this snowy morning, on WHWH, I heard the announcer praise the area of Somerset County for its efficient and prompt snow-clearance of roads—not just the state highways, but the secondary roads. He said he only appreciated this when he approached Princeton, where the clearance is usually slow, where secondary roads are often neglected.

Postal Service Praised

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Everyone seems to have a story of lost or damaged or delayed mail, and I'm quite sure most of the stories are quite true.

However, I have had a great deal of outgoing mail during the past two months and have met with the greatest cooperation at the Palmer Square Post Office.

Postmaster Basil Ferrara and two of his assistants, Edward Dlabik and Edward Stengel, have been most helpful as well as efficient; nothing was ever too much trouble for them.

It's true that my packages had problems after leaving Princeton, but the service here was excellent.

I am most grateful to all these men.

In the meantime I received a leaflet prepared by the Federal Trade Commission which explained your rights when you order by mail. Or, as in our case, when you don't order.

Support for Edith Francis.

Following is the text of a letter sent to Dr. Meyerhoffer, president of the Regional Board of Education.

JACQUELINE SWAIN
MINNIE CRAIG
JAMESENA JOHNSON
VIRGINIA BURFORD
HAZEL RHODES
CHARLOTTE GIPSON
FRANK WELLS
KAREN MARROW
Parents in support of Edith Francis

This letter is being sent in support of the application of Mrs. Edith V. Francis for the position of permanent Superintendent of the Princeton Regional School System. Mrs. Francis took this position on an "Acting" basis at a time of confusion and fragmentation.

She has carried out her duties in a fashion which exemplifies the ideals of a good educator and of a person who exhibits the qualities necessary to insure that all children in Princeton receive a good public school educational experience.

In observing Mrs. Francis move among the children of Princeton, her love for them is more than obvious, as is their love and respect for her. Mrs. Francis has been an administrator in the system for many years and she demonstrated her abilities not only to the community but also to the Board which continues her in the administrative capacity.

This love of Mrs. Francis spills over into the private lives of many in the community. She has made herself available to every section of the community. She can, has, and is willing to meet with people in their homes, in small or large groups, formally or informally to discuss mutual concerns. Mrs. Francis has met with parents in our area.

In the John Witherspoon community, especially, there seems to be much more parent awareness for what is happening in the school system, whereas in the past, it was generally felt that it was useless to try to bring their concerns to the administration. There seems now to be a feeling that there is someone at the helm who cares for all children and the quality of their education.

Top administrators somehow have a way of condescending to persons they feel are inferior because of certain social situations, i.e., section of town one may reside, highest level of education attained, present work status. Mrs. Francis has the unique ability to roll up her sleeves, get involved in the problem at hand and try to deal with them in a fair and equitable manner, without the attitude that "I am the administrator, therefore I know what is best for you and your children."

Mrs. Francis commands loyalty and respect wherever she goes and is the perfect role-model for young people. There will be instances when all do not agree with some of her decisions and approaches to problems, but we recognize her sensitivity and equitable way of dealing with situations of many different dimensions.

Mrs. Francis is indeed a rare find in education. She recognizes that all children are not scholars, and realizes that not only does a child have to be guided in order to cope in higher educational situations, but also the child who is not destined to move beyond his secondary years has to be prepared to deal with everyday life in a constructive, fulfilling manner.

We recommend that the Board of Education give serious consideration to the permanent appointment of Mrs. Edith Francis to the position of Superintendent of the Princeton Regional School System.

RECORD YEAR MARKED
By Princeton Savings. Princeton Savings and Loan Association experienced record breaking gains in assets during 1976. According to William H. Boozer, Jr., president, total assets soared to $89,457,773 ... a 50 percent gain over figures reported the year before.

"Despite a persistently sluggish economy, 1978 was a year of unusually strong growth and expansion for us," he said. "In early January, we merged with Peoples Savings and Loan Association, geographically extending our services and facilities to the people of Somerville and Bedminster. The merger added $14,400,000 to assets and set the stage for large gains throughout the year."

Total savings advanced to $84,223,568, a 52 percent rise over last year's amount. This increase in deposits enabled Princeton Savings to make new homes possible for 526 area families amounting to $23,119,300 in mortgage loans - double last year's figures. The total mortgage loan portfolio reached a record $78,281,072.

"The mortgage market recovered strongly in the areas we serve," Boozer commented. "Home buyers, conscious of escalating real estate prices, took advantage of the prevailing lower loan rates," he said.

During the year, Princeton Savings paid $4,653,410 to its savers, and also added $525,946 to reserves and undivided profits, further enhancing the underlying strength of the institution. Looking forward, he sited plans now being formulated to open a new office in Plainboro in late March.

REALTOR OPENS OFFICE

REPLACEMENT NAMED

For Sports Information Post. John M. Humenik, 25, assistant director of sports information at Princeton University, has been named director of sports information effective March 1.

He will replace Philip K. Langan who has held the directorship since 1973 but who recently resigned to accept the newly-created position of director of public affairs for physical education and athletics at Cornell University.

A former assistant and later supervisor of the sports information program at Clarion State College (Pa.) and a former administrative intern with the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC), Humenik was graduated magna cum laude from Clarion State in 1974 with a B.S. degree in business administration.

During his junior and senior years there, he served as an assistant in the sports information office, and after graduation supervised the entire program for the next 18 months as a graduate assistant. During that period, he also earned the M.B.A. degree from his alma mater.

Other Sports

on Pages 13B-15B

"Based on our own observation of John Humenik's work," Mr. Eager said, "and the very supportive comments from Princeton coaches and administrators as well as those of media representatives who have dealt with him, we are confident that he is the proper person to lead our important sports information program. We're sorry, of course," he added, "to lose Phil Langan while at the same time we feel fortunate to have a qualified and energetic professional who can assume the directorship."

Mr. Eager said that a broad search will be initiated promptly for a new assistant director of sports information to work with Humenik and that he is hopeful of finding "the best person for the job and for Princeton" by about March 1st.

For Hun School Quintet. Cold and snow wiped out Hun's Friday game with Girard — it will be played February 28 — but the Red and Black can still bask in the warmth of last week's one-point victory over rival Princeton Day School — its first over the Panthers since the Hightstown Christmas tournament two years ago.

"We finally won a close one," said Hun coach Dave Leete. We played good defense and we were patient in our shot selection for the first time. We needed this one; I hope it keeps us going."

Aided by a jumper and two clutch foul shots at the 1:06 mark by Bob Kiwiattkoski, Hun edged the home-team Panthers, 52-51, to even its record at 5-5.

Hun will play three home games this week, entertaining Solebury Friday evening at 7:45, Peddie Monday at 3:30 and Montclair-Kimberley Wednesday at 4. This Wednesday afternoon it was scheduled to oppose Lawrenceville School at the Larries' Lavino Field House at 3.

Against PDS, Hun used only six players and five contributed to all the scoring. Hun received its usual fine offensive game from Ron Payton who led both teams with 21 points while John

John M. Humenik

Brady added 10. The two are co-captains of the team.

"Payton did a good job rebounding and handled the ball well," said Leete who also cited the "good game" by Brady. But he saved his highest accolades for Kiwiattkoski (eight points) and Pete Black (seven points) who came through when it counted.

Tom Dillione had six points for Hun which won the game on the foul line where it outscored PDS, 7-4. The teams were all even at 35 at the start of the final quarter.

Newark Academy Falls. Monday at Livingston, Hun defeated Newark Academy, 79-63, as the Red and Black shot 56 percent from the floor and placed three men in double figures.

Payton, as usual was at the top of the list with 19 and added nine rebounds. Kiwiattkoski had 12 and Black, 10. Hun lead at the half, 41-29.

PEDDIE IS BEATEN

By Lawrenceville. Last Saturday afternoon the Lawrenceville School basketball team staged off a Peddie School second half comeback, and won 79-73. Lawrenceville, who now stands at 5 wins and 1 loss, scored almost at will throughout most of the first two quarters, sparked by the fine play of guards Rick Clancy and Jeff Hager.

Clancy got things rolling for the Larries as he hit three jumpers and two key layups for 10 first quarter points. The quarter ended as Lawrenceville produced thirteen unanswered points for a 23-7 lead.

The Larries continued their domination in the second period by stacking up 24 more points while Peddie was only able to tally 11. Rick Kenagy and Dick Eydt kept the drive going by combining for 12 points. As the second half ended Lawrenceville had what was to be an unsurmountable 47-28 lead.

The roles were reversed in the third period, however, as Peddie came fighting back aided by Lawrenceville's over confidence. Rick Frenzenburah picked up the slack with nine points in the third quarter as Peddie closed the gap to 58-54. Amazingly Peddie outscored Lawrenceville 26-11 in this period. The two teams exchanged baskets the final eight minutes of play to give Lawrenceville the six-point win.

Peddie's Mark Cinelli led all scorers with 23 points while his teammate Kevin Johnson was good for 19 more. Captain Jeff Hager paced the Larries with 18, four more than fellow guard Rick Clancy's total of 14.

TWO STILL UNDEFEATED
In Men's Basketball League. After two weeks of play in the seven-team men's basketball league sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department, only two remain unbeaten.

Ivy accomplished its 2-0 record with victories over God Squad and the Princeton Medical Center. The scores were 89-66 and 89-40.

In its first victory, veteran forward Mike McQuire led the Big Green with 26 points while Joe Vavricka, Art Midgett, Terry Power and Houston Hinson tallied 18, 16, 14, 14 points respectively. Bruce McCollough was high for God Squad with 18 points.

Ivy's second victory was easy as the Medical Center team received little scoring from anyone except the league-leading scorer, Dennis Wilson, who tallied 34 points. Vavricka, McQuire, Hinson and Midgett continued to carry the offense for Ivy.

Joint Effort ran its record to 3-0 with victories over God Squad and Princeton Youth Center, the former finally succumbing to JE's superior shooting power, 88-83. Tony Montgomery led all scorers with 29 points. Ron McEwen, Ed McEwen and John Young also reached double figures for Joint Effort.

God Squad was again led by McCullough who had 28 points. Other double figure scorers for the losers were Ed Grant (16), Stan Steward (12) and Steve Breazier (10).

Joint Effort's victory over the Youth Center was highlighted by another high-scoring performance by Montgomery who tossed in 21 points. Rob McPhearson and Shawn Craig led the Youth Center attack with 22 and 12 points.

God Squad rebounded from its loss to Joint Effort with a 62-58 victory over Medical Center. Steve Breazier played his best offensive game of the season, scoring 24 points, but his performance was overshadowed by Dennis Wilson who set a single-game scoring record for the league with 48 points.

In other action, the Youth Center set a team scoring record in crushing Harrison Athletic Club, 111-38. Ray Smallz led the victors with 27 points, while Reggie Carter and Daryl Marshall scored 22 each. McPhearson and Walter Taylor reached double figures

The standings:

Joint Effort	3	0	1.000
Ivy Inn	2	0	1.000
God Squad	3	2	.600
Youth Center	2	2	.500

JADWIN TO RESUME

Next Saturday Morning. The Princeton Recreation Department's Jadwin Program will resume the Saturday portion of the heavily through graduation, program on January 29. The program offers basketball and track workouts to youngsters in grades 7-12 from 9 to 11.

NEW STREAK STARTED?

PHS Drubs WW, 80-55. "I'm going to become a psychologist to see what makes kids tick."

"One day they fall apart and the next day it's like a different world," observed Princeton High basketball coach Marv Trotman Tuesday afternoon, after his team had an easy time defeating visiting West Windsor, 80-55.

It wasn't much of a contest from the opening tapoff. West Windsor came to Princeton loser in six of its last seven starts, and it was soon evident it was outclassed by the Little Tigers who pulled to a 41-25 halftime lead.

The game served three purposes. It was the start, Trotman hoped, of a new string after his team had suffered its first loss in 11 starts the previous day to Hopewell Valley. It was a Colonial Valley conference win where PHS is 3-1, and it gave Trotman his first opportunity to clear his bench.

Trotman pulled his starters with 5:40 left to play and PHS up 64-37 and the reserves took over. Scott Trani received a loud ovation when he entered and promptly hit on his first shot. He finished with two.

Kiernan Esposito had two, Kevin Ali one, Kim Beasley, four, while Seth Sanders and Jean-Paul Maman failed to score.

Princeton's top gun, Junior Oldham found the WW defense to his liking as he ripped through it for 25 points, scoring 11 of his team's 13 points in the third period. Mike Fuschini added 15 to the Little Tiger attack, 13 in the first half, and Tommy Moore, the team's sixth man, came off the bench to score 10.

High scorer for PHS in the upset loss to Hopewell, Todd Blackledge contributed eight points, all in the first half. He picked up his fourth personal foul with 2:05 left to go in the third period. Bernie Noble hit three long jumpers in the first period for six points, his high for the season. Ken Bullock had six points, all in the final period.

The Pirates, who lost heavily through graduation, never led. They fell behind early on the shooting of Noble and Fuschini but managed to fight back and tie it at 16 just before the first period ended.

But Princeton put the game out of reach early in the second period, outscoring WW 23-9 as Fuschini, Blackledge and Oldham combined for 18 points.

Dave Bornheimer with 14 and Gary Pawlinski with 13 were high for the losers. PHS shot 65 percent in the first half, hitting 17 of 26 shots. The 80 points was its second highest output of the season.

News Of The CHURCHES

BONHOEFFER IS TOPIC
Of Nassau Church Series. As its winter lecture series, The Nassau Presbyterian Church has planned a series of talks, a sermon and informal discussions on Dietrich Bonhoeffer by three experts. Dr. and Mrs. Eberhard Bethge and Dr. Paul L. Lehmann will participate in the series Sunday through Tuesday.

Dr. Bethge will preach Sunday at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services on the theme, "Second Thoughts about Dietrich Bonhoeffer." That evening at 8 Dr. and Mrs. Bethge and Dr. Lehmann will talk on "Bonhoeffer's Religionless Christianity: A Mistake?"

On Monday evening at 8 the topic of the second lecture will be "Life and Resistance in a Totalitarian State." The final talk, "Praying and Doing What is Right," will be given by Dr. Bethge and Dr. Lehmann on Tuesday at 8. Child care for small children will be provided during each lecture, and afterwards there will be an opportunity for informal discussion.

Dr. Bethge, who is married to Bonhoeffer's niece, was expelled from theological college in his native Germany when, along with friends, he refused obedience to the Nazi-Reichsbishop. He then joined the anti-Nazi Confessing Church Seminary in Finkenwalde, where Bonhoeffer was director and where he stayed until the Nazis and he was imprisoned. He has served as a pastor of a German congregation in London, director of an institute for continuing education for clergy in the Federal Republic of Germany and visiting professor at a number of American seminaries.

Dr. Lehmann, who was also a personal friend of Bonhoeffer, has taught at Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va., and in New York City and was for 10 years the Stephen Cowell Professor of Applied Christianity and director of graduate studies at Princeton Seminary.

FETED BY CHURCH
On 60th Anniversary. A Diamond Jubilee 60th Wedding Anniversary dinner was held in the Bunker Hill Lutheran Church on Saturday, January 15, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Peder Pedersen of Washington Avenue, Griggstown. Over 150 guests attended.

The Rev. Stanley Bugge, pastor, was master of ceremonies. Included in the program were songs by four of their great grandchildren, Meredith and Jason Behrend, and Matthew and Michael DeKok.

The Pedersens are charter members of the church which was founded in 1956. Mr. Pedersen is elder emeritus, and Mrs. Pedersen belongs to the Faith and Fellowship Society. He is a retired carpenter and has played an active role in all the building projects of the church since its inception.

IF YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS, the best way to show your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

Before moving to this area several years ago they were members of the 59th Street Church in Brooklyn, N.Y., for over 30 years. Mr. Pedersen is also one of the founders of Norseville, a small colony in Griggstown which originated over 50 years ago with about 50 families of Norwegian ancestry. Many second and third generation families have settled there since.

The Pedersens came to this country in their youth and were married in Brooklyn. They have three daughters, Mrs. Thelma Langfeldt and Mrs. Esther Olsen of this area, and Mrs. Doris Soberg of Moorhead, Minn., who came with her daughter, Nancy, for the occasion; 11 grandchildren and 6 great grandchildren.

The choir has sung in various cities on the East Coast, but this tour will be the most extensive trip to date for the choir, and it will be the first time that the choral group will be heard in the mid-west.

Choral works by Schutz, Stanford, Walton, Weelkes and Handel will be presented in the tour programs.

While the choir is away, Trinity's 11:15 service on Sunday will be sung by the Boy Choir of Princeton, formerly the Columbus Boy Choir, under the direction of Donald Hanson. The 9:15 service will be sung by the Trinity Adult Choir under the direction of Ronald Haizlip, assistant organist at Princeton Theological Seminary.

THREE HEAVENLY ACRES

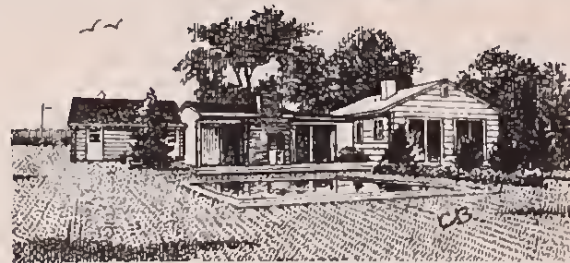

At least 28 kinds of trees - hardwood, specimen, evergreen and flowering - plus at least 10 flowering and 6 evergreen shrubs, plus bulbs, wildflowers and perennials backed by woods with trails to walk on - sound like Paradise? It is. We saw pictures of the grounds in various stages of bloom and thought at first they were taken while the owners were travelling in exotic places! The solidly built perfectly maintained, pristine brick ranch house that goes with all this natural beauty is planned to take full advantage of it with a picture window view from every room in the house except the two baths! Handsome panelling--cherry, blond mahogany, knotty cedar, pecky cypress--is used throughout for aesthetic and practical purposes. Large living room with fireplace, nice dining room, superb eat-in kitchen, study/bedroom, 2 more bedrooms, 2 baths and - another piece de resistance - a lovely "garden room" with tile floor and raised fireplace round out the living space in the house. Which brings us to the 150 year old barn, roomy enough for cars and a horse below and above an adorable 3 room apartment for in-laws, teenagers, caretakers, or what you will. Altogether a very fine new LIGHT listing

Early Exposure to Death Helped in Decision Of Daphne Hawkes to Become Episcopal Priest

She wears her clerical collar easily under her neat grey plaid suit as she takes time between hospital visits and going home to fix supper for four children and her orthopedic surgeon husband to reflect on her coming ordination to the Episcopal priesthood.

In less than 10 days at a service in Trinity Church where she has worked for two years, the Rev. Mrs. Daphne W.P. Hawkes will be ordained a priest in the Episcopal Church, the first woman priest in the Diocese of New Jersey and one of the first in the country. After years of controversy, including the "illegal" ordination of a number of women who were frustrated by the long waiting, the priesthood was opened to women for the first time in the history of the Episcopal Church by vote of the General Convention in Minneapolis this past September.

Her dark eyes still reflecting concern for the plight of the family she just visited in the hospital, Mrs. Hawkes is wary of the publicity that is bound to be generated by the historical significance of her ordination and wary of sounding "prissy" in trying to explain what has led her to this point. "I've tried a lot of things, and this is what makes sense to me. It has given me great joy — a joy so different from any other joy," she begins.

The markings, as Dag Hammarskjöld used the term, that have shaped her journey from an upper middle class childhood in Washington, D.C. and Sewickley, Pa., to taking courses at Princeton Theological Seminary six years ago seem to be an early exposure to death and family upheaval and the examples in the lives of key people, largely in churches she and her husband have belonged to since their marriage.

Born in Paris in 1938 where her father was a foreign correspondent with the Paris bureau of the Associated

TO BE ORDAINED A PRIEST: The Rev. Mrs. Daphne W.P. Hawkes will be the first woman ordained in New Jersey after her ordination Saturday, January 29, in Trinity Church where she serves as the member of the clergy in charge of pastoral care.

Press, she and her mother and her brother were evacuated from Budapest and were on the last boat of women and children to get out of Europe before World War II broke out. They lived for a time in Washington, D.C. where her father rejoined the family and was with the O.S.S. and in Ohio, where her mother and father were divorced.

When she was 15, her father died suddenly of a heart attack while he was head of the news bureau at the United Nations. She wrote an essay, which she still has, on three types of people, those who avoid all discussion of death, those who are overwhelmed by the hideousness of death, and those, and she counts them as being very few in number, who face death with no self-deluding mechanisms, but with honesty and hopefulness.

Fiance Killed. Another shattering experience came in her senior year as an English major at Penn State when the man whom she was engaged to marry was killed in an automobile accident the very weekend of the announcement of their engagement. There was also an Episcopal chaplain at college, Mrs. Hawkes recalls, who was dying of cancer and who talked about his coming death openly with her.

She came to New York to work first for McGraw-Hill and later for the syndicate in East Orange which turned out the Hardy Boys books and Nancy Drew mysteries. Dudley F. Hawkes, whose father had gone to school and college with her father and whom she had known "always," was a medical student in New York. During the year of their courtship his brother died of cancer while a student at Brown University.

The Hawkes lived first in Albany and later in California when Dr. Hawkes was with the Air Force. There in the first Episcopal Church in which they got involved, the wife of the rector found she had cancer and the whole congregation participated in the experience. "I was very touched by the way the rector shared it with us," she recalls. "It resolved things for me in

READY FOR MUSIC?
(And Summertime?) Remember Bergman's film, "Smiles of a Summer Night?" It's been translated from Swedish into music to make "A Little Night Music," the P.J. & B. musical that will play McCarter four times this weekend.

Performances will be given this Thursday at 7:30; Friday and Saturday at 8:30 and Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

We meet at the lavish estate of an actress - played by Liz Fillo - and observe the romantic entanglements involving pursuit of a former love, jealousies of a present love, the desire of a youth for his father's new young wife, and a maid and butler with casual ideas about life and loving.

Karl Light plays the actress' former love, the man who now has a delicious new young wife - Julia Sly. But she is in love with her new husband's son, George Oliva.

The actress' current lover, played by Reid White, has a wife who has a right to be jealous, considering the circumstances. She will be played by Diana Crane. The new young wife has a maid - Michele Sutter - who is rather care-free about the butler - Harry Clark. Also in the cast are Mary C. Combs and Steven Magee as a maid and a page.

The director, as always in P.J. & B. (with one exception), is Milton Lyon. He and choreographer Joan Lucas have also put together a singing-dancing ensemble consisting of Vida Allworth, Lisa Danly, Karen Daughia, Carole Davis, Lynn Dennis, Dorena D'Ippolito, Jack Friedel, Ellen Gould, Maurey Herman, Robert Hynes, William B. Lamb, Barton Rouse, Robert Stives, Edward Teti, and Steven Tetz.

The orchestra consists of Giles Crane, Ann Deutsch, Dan Krimm, Jennifer Small, Kathy Kemp, Brook Porter, Edward McClure, Geoff Rich, Steve Fillo, Matthew Cahn, Jack Selber, Roger Lustig, Crista Little, Rachel Abelson, Lance Knobel, Ernesto Rivera, Stephen Snyder, James B. Huffman, Jeff Park, Ethan Schulman, Frank Sweeney, Alix Ledford, Stuart Mindlin, and Marc Segan.

Pilobolus was founded in the summer of 1971 by two men who were taking choreography classes at Dartmouth from Alison Chase. They were joined shortly by two more Chase students and later by Ms. Chase herself and a second women dancer.

"TONIGHT AT 8:30"
Coward at Intime. A trio of mini-musicals by Noel Coward, taken from his nine-play production that played New York in 1936, will be on Theatre Intime's Murray Theatre stage in mid-February as "Tonight at 8:30."
Dates are Thursday through Saturday, February 10-12 and again February 17-19.

The three plays are "We Were Dancing," "Shadow Play" and "Red Peppers," all of which starred Coward himself and the late Gertrude Lawrence in the New York production.
For Intime, director George Oliva has Stephen Sechrist and Boomie Pederson as the strangers who fall in love, in the cool "stiff-upper-lip" fashion of Britons of that day, while they are dancing. Following "We Were Dancing," there will be Margot Greenbaum and Richard Greenberg as estranged mates reunited in the dream of "Shadow Play." "Red Peppers," the finale, will have Jamie Horton and Nancy Bleemer as the squabbling husband and wife dance team on the small-town theatre circuit.

Director Oliva, who has been in Triangle, Intime and P.J. & B. musicals, is currently in P.J. & B.'s "A Little Night Music." Lynn Dennis is choreographer for "Tonight at 8:30" -- she's dancing in "Night Music" -- and Geoff Rich is serving as musical director. Charles Stone, also on the "Night Music" tech staff, has designed the lighting.

Friedrich Durrenmatt's "The Physicists," which will open the theatre's second semester with a three-week run starting Thursday, February 3 at 7:30 p.m., and continuing through Sunday, February 20. The production will then move to Philadelphia's Annenberg Theatre for two more weeks.

"The Physicists" is laid in an asylum where the staff caters to the special madness of two scientists who claim to be Sir Isaac Newton and Albert Einstein. There is a third with a direct line to King Solomon. Before the play has ended, there is murder, a bit of mayhem and some mystery, just to make the three m's complete.

Gene Lesser is directing. In his cast are Irwin Atkins, Alice Beardsley, Daniel Barton, Richard Dix, Oliver Dixon, Thomas Eley, David Edelman, Sara Jane Gwillim, Anthony Holland, Nicholas Kepros, David MacEnulty, Paule McCarane, Vivian Nathan, James Noble, Jim Oyster, Steve Sheld, Barbara Tarback, James Tolin and George Toliatos.

Tony Straiges, who recently designed the Yale Repertory "Midsummer Night's Dream," is the set designer. Jeanne Button is the costume designer - she did "Awake and Sing" last season - and John McLain has designed the lights.

NEW DIRECTOR

For Street Theatre. Diane Barlow, a graduate student at Rutgers in creative arts education, has been appointed director of Street Theatre for the coming season. She is currently on the staff of McCarter Theatre's administrative office.

A graduate of Douglass with course work in theatre and film production, Ms. Barlow helped to develop an arts program for a day care center, and worked as assistant director on an off-off-broadway children's production.

She has also done graduate work in design at Rutgers and the Fashion Institute of Technology.

"DREAM" IS MODERN

In Playhouse Production. A 1977 look at love, fantasy, magic and romance characterizes Eric Krebs' version of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which will open this Friday at the George Street Playhouse in New Brunswick. It will play through February 12.

Mr. Krebs, who is producing director of the Playhouse, has dressed his inter-racial cast in today's clothes, and has updated the language slightly so that the play can be more enjoyable for children. Lloyd Harris has designed the set, and Dean Powell of Metuchen, has composed original music. Francis Roefaro, who did lighting for the Playhouse "Dracula," is the lighting designer. Those contemporary costumes are by Linda Reynolds, who also did "Oh! Coward!" for the Playhouse.

In the cast are Nathaniel Robinson - a former Juilliard student who has a part in the current film "King Kong" - playing Oberon; John Del Regno, whom audiences will

OBERLIN CHOIR HERE
For Concert at All Saints'. The Oberlin College Choir, directed by Daniel Moe, will present a program of sacred and secular choral music from the 16th through the 20th centuries on Thursday, January 27, at 8 p.m.
The concert, which will be held at All Saints' Church, Van Dyke Road, is the fourth in the current Trinity-All Saints' Series of Concerts and Musical Services.

The choir's 60 musicians are selected by audition from the College of Arts and Sciences and the well-known Conservatory of Music at Oberlin, Ohio. In addition to campus performances, they make extended concert tours each year, singing in such places as Town Hall, Alice Tully Hall and Philharmonic Hall (now Avery Fisher) in New York, the Kennedy Center Concert Hall in Washington, and even in the Soviet Union.

Tickets at $3 may be purchased in advance from either church office, (Trinity, 924-2277; All Saints', 921-2420). Any tickets remaining will be available at the door.

NEWMAN, HARRELL
Harpsichord, Cello. An all-Bach program devoted to compositions for harpsichord, cello and gamba, will be presented in McCarter on Tuesday, February 8 (8 p.m.) by harpsichordist Anthony Newman and cellist Lino Harrell.
The program will consist of the "Italian" concerto for solo keyboard, works for unaccompanied cello and the three Gamba Sonatas.
Mr. Newman, who has presented all-Bach recitals from McCarter's stage twice before, is renowned as an organist as well as a harpsichordist. He is now recording the complete organ works of Bach.

Mr. Harrell, son of the late Metropolitan Opera baritone Mack Harrell, was first cello of the Cleveland Orchestra under George Szell, and was one of the first two winners of the Avery Fisher Awards.
The two musicians will appear as part of the Music-at-McCarter series. Tickets are available at the McCarter box office.

FACULTY FEATURED
In Choir College Concerts. Westminster Choir College has scheduled two concerts in which two faculty members are featured.
Phyllis Lehrer, pianist and instructor of piano, will team with her brother-in-law Barney Lehrer, cellist, in a duo program Sunday, January 30, at 8 in the Playhouse. Daniel Pratt, baritone and head of the vocal department, will present a recital of German lieder and arias from Bach cantatas Monday, January 31 at 8, also in the Playhouse. There is no admission charge for either concert, and the public is invited to both.

The Lehrers will play both of the Brahms cello sonatas with piano, Sonata in C, opus 102, and Sonata in F, opus 99. Ms. Lehrer will also play the Beethoven Sonata in A, opus 2, no. 2, and Variations in D on an original theme of Brahms.
The Lehrers both trained at the Juilliard School of Music and have given many concerts together, including performances in the Lincoln Center Library of the Performing Arts and at Princeton and Rutgers Universities. Mr. Lehrer is a professor at the University of Sao Paulo and a solo cellist in one of Brazil's major orchestras. As the pianist member of the Millstone Trio, Ms. Lehrer has recently completed 150 concerts for New Jersey school children.

Mr. Pratt's program will include arias from Bach cantatas number 3, 56, 61, 140 (Wachet Auf) and from the Christmas Oratorio; "Harpenspieler," a song cycle by Hugo Wolf; four Brahms lieder including the "Wiegenlied," and five Schubert lieder including songs from "Die Schoene Muellerin" and "Winterreise." He will be assisted by Daphne Powell, piano and harpsichord; Diane Higgenbotham, soprano; Elaine Banks, cello; and Tillie Helms, oboe.
Mr. Pratt is the baritone soloist at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in New York for its Bach Cantata series. A native Texan, he holds a bachelor's degree from Baylor University and a master's from George Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn. As a 1966 Fulbright Scholar he studied voice and lieder in Germany and has concertized in Asia, Europe and all over the United States.

DANCERS TO PERFORM

On Broadway. Ballet Workshop, directed by Imogen Stooke Wheeler, will participate in the Broadway Dance Festival at the Bijou Theater on 45th Street and Broadway Friday, January 21 at 7:30.

It will present an evening of ballets, widely varied in style and content, ranging from Fokine's "Carnaval" choreographed for the Diaghilev Ballet in 1910 to "Storm" premiered here in Princeton last year with Ma. Wheeler's New York - based group, Bicentennial Ballet.

Also on the program will be "Nocturne" choreographed by Ms. Wheeler and "Romeo and Juliet" staged by Alexander Bennett, former principal dancer with Ballet Rambert and Britain's Royal Ballet. Recreating the Caravina and Nijinski roles in "Carnaval" will be Sarah Rothrock of Princeton as Columbine and Jay Jolly of the New York City Ballet as Harlequin.

PLAYHOUSE

Silver Streak. A comedy about a train ride and before it crashes into Union Station in Chicago in a socko ending, there is murder and mayhem aboard. Gene Wilder and Jill Clayburgh star but the film really picks up midway when Richard Pryor appears.

PRINCE

King Kong. "The most exciting original motion picture of all time," says the promo. That's a little too ape but the consensus is that this remake is better than the Fay Wray original.

Kong dominates the film, of course. Trouble is, one has to wait almost an hour for him to make his appearance.

Bugsy Malone. The idea behind the film is ingenious: a musical parody of a 1930 gangster film with one distinct twist - have the entire cast from hired thug to brassy B-girls played by kids.

The novelty wears off too quickly but see it anyway. The music is excellent and the kids superb.

GARDEN

The Pink Panther Strikes Again. Peter Sellers plays bumbling Inspector Clouseau again. For Pink Panther fans a pure delight.

The Seven-Per-Cent Solution. Sherlock Holmes meets Sigmund Freud. Freud (Alan Arkin) helps Holmes (Nicol Williamson) kick a cocaine habit and even joins the legendary sleuth in a turn-of-the-century mystery set in Vienna. Based on the Nicholas Meyer bestseller, the film is more an amiable series of witty character studies than a mystery.

ART In Princeton

LABATUT TO GEDDES
Exhibit Opeos in New York. A retrospective view of Princeton University's School of Architecture and Urban Planning since World War II is the subject of a study and exhibition opening January 27 in New York City. Entitled "Princeton's Beaux Arts and Its New Academicism: From Labatut to the Program of Geddes," the exhibition will run through February 24 at the Institute for Architecture and Urban Studies, 3 West 40th St.

The exhibition features projects, mostly at the graduate level, of students from various years since World War II. The projects, mostly in the form of architect's drawings, range from churches to office buildings.

Many of the former students whose work appears have become distinguished architects. Among them are, Emilio Ambasz, former curator of design at New York's Museum of Modern Art, now in private practice in New York and Bologna, Italy; Donlyn R. Lyndon, chairman of the program on Visual Arts at MIT; Charles W. Moore, chairman of the architecture department at UCLA; and Robert C. Venturi, Jr., a well-known Philadelphia architect.

The exhibition also examines the Princeton school's program and the influence of its faculty. Professor emeritus Jean Labatut (known for his design of the Fountain Spectacles at the 1939 New York World's Fair, among other things) was a dominant force in the first 20 years of the postwar period. He served on the faculty for 39 years before retiring in 1967.

Professor Robert L. Geddes, who joined Princeton's faculty in 1965 to become the architecture school's first dean, directs a curriculum which has been praised over the past 10 years for its combination of design with the history, theory, and philosophy of architecture. The professional work of the two men is also compared.

New York architect Michael Wurmfeld, director of the exhibition, studied at Princeton under Labatut and served here on the faculty under Geddes for two years. Mr. Wurmfeld sees the exhibition as an attempt to define the elusive phrase, "beaux arts." The exhibit is open to the public weekdays from 10 to 5.

SHOW ARRANGED
By Princeton Gallery. An exhibition of paintings, watercolors and sculptures, many of which are by Princeton artists and artists familiar to Princetonians, is on view at the world headquarters of Nabisco, Inc. in East Hanover until February 25. The exhibit of approximately 40 works has been arranged by the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, and all of the works on display are available for purchase through the gallery.

Among the nationally recognized artists who are represented in numerous private and public collections throughout the country are Thomas George, Dorothea Greenbaum, George Greene and Jane Teller, all of Princeton. Other artists include Nell Blaine, John Civitello, Werner Drewes, William King, B.J.O. Nordfeldt, Reginald Neal, John Gundelfinger, Wolf Kahn, Gregorio Prestopino, Reeve Schley III, Saul Swarz and Robert Lafond.

RELIGIOUS ART ON VIEW
At Seminary Library. Mrs. Robin Satinsky, executive director of the Donglomur Foundation, will bring her "Robin Collection" of Bible-inspired artwork to Princeton Seminary's Speer library beginning January 31.

The collection ranges from the 12th century to the 20th and includes such items as the Romanesque ceiling of St. Martin in Zillis, Ben Shahn's Ecclesiastes or the Preacher and a 16th century anonymous Ethiopian Scroll of Esther. Artist who are represented

IT'S NEW To Us

REDECORATING?
Fabric Center Can Help.
Most anywhere you look, January is the month of sales and bargains. The majority of these are concerned with closing out seasonal merchandise, but some do have a forward look to them, and such is the case with The Fabric Center's current slipcover sale.

Choosing from most any fabric in stock (and these include ones from houses such as Waverly-Schumacher, Riverdale or John Wolf,) a one cushion chair and a three-cushioned sofa can be recovered for $189, an excellent price.

Looking at the fabrics we saw textured solids, floral or colonial prints, some plaids, ticking stripes, children's designs, an unusual print of Pennsylvania Dutch quilt designs, and a handsome houndstooth in red and black or white with brown or black.

And if none of these answer your decorating problem, there are dozens of books you can look through. However, in this case the fabrics must be ordered and the prices are slightly higher.

Mr. May, manager of The Fabric Center, feels they have two of the best cutters in the area. They come to your house, pin and cut the fabric, and then after the work is completed in a separate workshop, they return to install the slipcovers for a perfect fit.

Upholstery fabrics are available too, and particularly notable is the reasonably priced naugahyde - $3.98 for 54-inch fabric and there are more than 20 colors. Again, there are many books for special orders, such as one of Herculon plaids or another of unusual weaves and textures in natural tones.

PRINCETON DECORATING SHOP

35 Palmer Sq. W.

AFRICAN DESIGNS: This is not an oriental rug, but one of the new African Dashiki prints at the Fabric Center. Several different designs and background colors are available, and these cotton panels make dramatic skirts, bedspreads, curtains or can be used simply as wall hangings, $9.50 each.

Draperies Also. The workshop also makes draperies, and these can be in any of the above fabrics. Like the slipcovers, if you use those in stock the prices are most reasonable - about $4.39 a yard for fabric that generally retails between $7 or $8.

However, here, too, you may prefer choosing from the sample books or using Waverly's custom drapery service. The Fabric Center carries the complete range of their samples, and the work is done in the Waverly workshops within three to four weeks.

The Fabric Center provides several other surprising interior decorating services. For instance they will custom make slipcovers or draperies with your own fabric (a service many places do not offer;) supply all the drapery hardware you could ever need - by Kirsch, Kenney or Gould; and special order wooden shades, bedspreads or carpets.

There is also a marvelous new service here that definitely should be mentioned - the Steamex, a carpet cleaning machine you can work yourself. It costs $12 for a 24-hour period and allows you to do a professional job. The dirt is removed by hot water extraction, a method which doesn't leave any sticky residue of dirt or shampoo, a problem with some other home systems.

In addition to its decorating services, The Fabric Center carries a complete line of fabrics and accessories. Many of the fabrics are currently on sale, and happily some are appropriate for the new Spring fashions.

For instance, we saw a yellow plaid with a touch of pink or greens in woven polyester; a multi-colored stripe in kettle cloth; and a bandana and denim patchwork print to mention just a few, $1.98 to $4.50 and they are all 25 percent off.

However, if all the snow has put Spring beyond your imagination, the fun furs in either animal prints or bright plush colors are also 25 percent off their usual $4.98 to $6.98 price, and these would make wonderful warm robes or throws.

In recent years sewing has become more than fashion. While it's still fun to produce a vested jumpsuit or a hooded warm-up suit, you'll also find books on a variety of subjects. Some contain embroidery transfers so you can personalize anything, others teach you the ins and outs of doll clothes, while still others have gift suggestions you can whip up in a day - anything from a patchwork-covered trunk to a shell-decorated mirror.

Then to make all this work a little easier, The Fabric Center has a most impressive wall of tools and accessories. Here we saw everything from buttons and trims to basting tape that eliminates stitching and suede elbow patches for a country look.

Located at The Montgomery Shopping Center, The Fabric Center is open Monday through Thursday from 10 until 6, Friday from 10 until 9, and Saturdays from 1 until 5:30.

include Durer, Bernard Salomon, Rembrandt, Dore, Tissot, Dali and Chagall, among others.

Mrs. Satinsky believes that "the Bible is for all men for all seasons" and that "it is a revelation to see Old and New Testaments with their similarity of visions of art and religious interpretation that people of all faiths have identified with through the ages."

In a prefatory statement in the exhibition catalogue, Seminary President James I. McCord notes that the panels from St. Martin's ceiling are the only pre-Renaissance work. "Many art historians regard the Renaissance as the commencement of the secularization of art, offering the artists not just the realm of religious, but also other facets of culture. The artists represented in this collection chosen religious themes in spite of what many have called the liberating impact of the Renaissance," he writes.

The exhibition, which has been previously shown in the Philadelphia Judaica Museum of Rodeph Shalom and the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church, will continue through April 30.

CRAFTS ON VIEW

From Children's Class. A new exhibit of mixed-media arts and crafts has opened in the children's room of the Public Library. Ranging from paintings and collage through "fish prints" to fired clay, the works are the output of children from pre-kindergarten through 4th grade age and were produced in Creative Crafts classes taught by Robin Wallack.

Mrs. Wallack, whose classes are offered for ages 4 through adult, teaches after school in small groups of six per class. Artists represented in the exhibit include David and Lauren Albert, Amy Bergman, Bobby and Joe Blankstein, Milo Cogan, Jane Davidson, Julie DiMeglio, Greg Kean, Mark Matthews, Robin Poltras, Shara Porter, Libbe Ross, Stephen Sigmund, Michael Spiro and Jeremy Wallack. The exhibit will continue through February 18 and may be seen on Mondays from 9 to 9; Tuesday through Saturday, 9 to 5:30; and Sunday, 1 to 5:30.

in which both Hawkes participated fully, "because we were so needed." Dr. Hawkes became a lay reader and founded a group called Fish, similar to "Hot Line."

Dr. Hawkes has described himself as "the first, only and original member of the Clergy Husband's Association," but he has played a large part in his wife's emergence as New Jersey's first woman priest. As a fourth generation New Jersey surgeon, he knew from the time he was nine that he wanted to become a doctor and could understand his wife's need to become a minister. Mrs. Hawkes credits his sense of humor and his willingness to take on a good share of helping out with the children as partial answers to the question "how do you manage?" that people always ask.

It is also the fact that both have the back-up that a group practice and a group ministry provides. Mrs. Hawkes has been involved this year in organizing and training a lay pastorate of some 30 "parish callers," a "priesthood of all believers" that she is very excited about.

"It is a great honor that people trust you to allow you into their lives, to share their dying, their grieving, their baptisms and marriages," she says. "I feel when I am officiating at the sacraments that I am doing what I was meant to be doing, and that is a fantastic thing."

RECEIVES INVITATION

To Carter Inaugural. Carolyn Youngs, 48 Magnolia Lane, an early supporter of President-elect Carter, has received a general invitation to the inaugural ceremonies and parade in Washington on Thursday. Miss Youngs, daughter of Elizabeth Youngs, is an accountant at Mainstem, a computer research organization on Route 206.

Miss Youngs was a high school student in Georgia in 1966 when Jimmy Carter was in the Georgia State Legislature. She and her mother remember listening to a TV broadcast of a speech Mr. Carter made urging Georgia residents to come peacefully into the 20th century and to obey the Supreme Court rulings on school integration. When Mr. Carter declared his candidacy for the presidential nomination, Miss Youngs sent off a contribution to his headquarters and heard nothing more until she received the inaugural invitation.

WATERMAN TO TALK

To YMCA Scuba Club. Stan Waterman, underwater photographer who filmed the underwater sequences in "Jaws" and "Blue Water, White Death," will present a program Friday, January 28, at 8 at the YMCA. Sponsored by the YMCA Scuba Club, the program will consist of new adventures in the making of "The Deep" and "Jackie's World," a film about Jackie and Bert Kilbride's diving in the British West Indies.

Donations at the door will be $2 for adults and $1 for children. Proceeds will go to the YMCA and to the Stop Ocean Dumping Committee of the American Littoral Society.

TAX SEMINAR SET

At West Windsor Library. The West Windsor branch of the Mercer County Library will hold an income tax seminar in the downstairs room of the library on Wednesday, January 26, at 8.

Mrs. Phyllis Lamoreau, an IRS instructor, will be present. She will explain the new tax forms and changes in the income tax structure.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

By Historical Society. Members of the Historical Society of Princeton attended a reception and heard two illustrated reports at the annual meeting January 6.

Lewis B. Cuyler, co-chairman with Mrs. Robert Greiff of the Society's Preservation Revolving Fund, reported that well over $100,000 has now been raised, most of which is already actively committed to architectural projects designed to help preserve the character of Princeton.

Mrs. Alma R. Field reported on the Society's bicentennial initiative in identifying and marking with "historic plaques" Princeton's more than forty remaining 18th century houses. Many of these were verified from old maps, including one Mrs. Field discovered of the 1808 "turnpike" between Kingston and Trenton, part of which is now Mercer Street.

Membership Chairman Mr. Lewis B. Cuyler reported that the Society continues to grow. In 1976 there were 836 single and family memberships — more than 1200 adults. At the two-thirds point in the current drive, 1977 figures already top this. The Bainbridge Club, comprising $100 donors, has grown from 20 to over 60 members.

Plans were announced for a home-owner's conference-workshop this spring on how to preserve a New Jersey home.

Officers for 1977 are president, Walter F. Fullam; vice presidents: Mr. Cuyler, Mrs. Greiff and Mrs. Robert C. Gunning; secretary: Mrs. Jane E. Pearce; assistant secretary: Mrs. Field; treasurer: Admiral Mitchell D. Matthews; assistant treasurer: Paul Smith.

Elected new trustees were Joseph J. Felcone, Mrs. Jane E. Pearce, Philetus H. Holt 3rd and Paul Smith. Appointed to an advisory board were L. Scott Bailey, Richard W. Baker, Jr., Gerald Breese, Mrs. Gordon Knox, Mrs. Anne Reeves, Jack K. Rimalover, E. Hunter Ross, Edward A. Salkind, Robert H. Staples, Leslie L. Vivian, Jr., and Thomas J. Wertenbaker, Jr.

OLD CHINA ON VIEW

At Cranbury Museum. The Cranbury Historical & Preservation Society will exhibit old china in its Museum, at 4 Park Place, Cranbury, during the months of January and February. The collection, including pieces of old Haviland, Limoges, Bavarian, Royal Worcester, Wedgwood, Dresden, Crown Derby, Belleek, Chelsea, and Wedding Band patterns, comes from private and Museum sources.

Additionally, waterfowl decoys by Charles Pitman, naturalist and decoy carver, are on display. The Museum is open to the public on Saturdays and Sundays from 2 to 5 p.m.

SHAKER CRAFTS NEXT

In Historical Society Series. In the next lecture in the Historical Society's winter series June Sprigg will talk on "By Shaker Hands: Arts and Crafts of the American Shakers"; on Tuesday at 10:30 in Pierce Hall of Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. Her talk will be accompanied by slides and recordings of Shaker music.

The communities of Shakers in the 19th Century produced many objects of beautiful simplicity and functional design, including the original wooden clothespin. Their furniture and other craft products are treasured today and often copied by modern designers. Admission for the single lecture is $2.

PTO PLANS PROGRAM

On High School English Dept. The High School PTO will sponsor a presentation by the English Department on Wednesday, January 26 at 8 p.m. in the high school library. Mrs. Catherine Stecchini, head of the English department, and Mrs. Frank Soda, vice-principal and curriculum co-ordinator, will be the moderators.

The purpose of the meeting is to open an avenue of communication between staff and interested parents regarding the realities and complexities of current and future programs offered at Princeton High. At a time when colleges complain that students cannot write, when parents are pressing for more "basics," and when there is a likelihood of budget cuts which may imperil the program, it is imperative to become informed.

After the individual presentations by the staff, the floor will be open for discussion.

Coffee will be served, and teachers will remain to meet informally with the parents.

Of all the men who've ever played major-college basketball, which one would you say holds the record for scoring the most total points in a college career? ... It was Pete Maravich who scored 3,667 points at LSU from 1967 to 1970 ... No other player has ever topped that in major-college competition.

What sports did Jimmy Carter play in high school and college? ... He was on his high school's basketball team, and he ran on the cross country team at the U.S. Naval Academy.

Somebody once told the great basketball coach Adolph Rupp that winning really wasn't that important, and Rupp came back with an answer that we thought you'd enjoy reading ... Rupp said, "Well, if winning isn't so important, why do they keep score?"

Hopewell Valley Rallies To Defeat PHS, 67-60, Ending Little Tigers' 10-Game Unbeaten Streak

It's over. Princeton High's 10-game unbeaten bubble was burst Monday night by Hopewell Valley which came on with a rush to defeat the visiting Little Tigers on the foul line, 67-60. The Bulldogs (5-5) scored 35 points in the final period -- three more than they had in the previous three -- and 22 of those were from the foul line.

Four PHS players fouled out in the final four minutes. First to go was high scorer Todd Blackledge, who had 23 points, with 4:05 remaining and PHS enjoying a 58-48 lead. Princeton was not to score again until the final seven seconds on a basket by Mike Fuschini.

"We had the game and we blew it," said PHS coach Marv Trotman. "The world doesn't end with a loss. So we're 10 and 1. We've got to pick up tomorrow. We're getting closer and closer to playing at home."

Trotman commented that the number of fouls was "incredible." "I don't think we went to the line in the second half." Actually, PHS converted 11 of 13 in the second half and had a total of 14 for the game. Hopewell converted 10 of 11 free throws in the first half for a total of 32 for the game.

Opportunities Missed. "It's a conference loss -- that's the toughest thing," Trotman continued. "But we'll bounce back. We still have a good team. We had several opportunities to put them away, but we just didn't. It's not the end of the world."

Hopewell had jumped to a quick 6-2 lead on six points by Craig Miller. But PHS went on a 17 point tear -- 10 by Blackledge -- to take a 19-6 lead and was never headed. It was 33-22 at the half and 45-32 after three quarters. At no time did Princeton's unbeaten string and 19th ranking in the state appear in jeopardy.

Not until 4:16 was left in the final period did Hopewell score a basket when Mark Delucia connected. Its first 10 points in the period had all come from the foul line.

Another basket by Miller -- who ended as the game's high scorer with 28 -- followed by two foul shots by Princeton's Bernie Noble left the score at 56-46 when Blackledge fouled out.

Oldham Goes, Too. Junior Oldham added two more free throws -- his 11th and 12th points -- before he followed Blackledge with 2:38 left. Princeton's lead at the time was 58-50 but with its two big men out it was mortally wounded. Hopewell needed only 25 seconds to cut that lead to one, 58-57, and in 19 more seconds it had the lead, 61-58 as Miller exploded for eight straight points. Hopewell was on fire now, its shots dropping, its full court press bothering Princeton.

Billy Noonan sank two more foul shots to up the margin to five, 63-58. Ken Bullock then fouled out with 1:23 left and Tommy Moore left at the 1:05 mark. Fuschini's jumper made it 64-60 with 07 left but with just two clicks left on the clock, a technical foul was whistled against PHS for throwing the ball past the backboard in protest to a foul call. Miller closed out the scoring by calmly sinking three free throws in a row.

With 21 seconds left and the gym rocking to the cries of "We're No. 1" from the delirious Hopewell fans, PHS had a lineup consisting of Kim Beasley, Jean-Paul Mamon, John Sapoch, Noble and Fuschini. Fuschini, who had nine points in the first half, finished with 13. No other PHS player scored more than four.

As the hectic turnaround wound down to a close,

PLAYMAKER: Mike Fuschini, slick playmaking guard for the Little Tigers, has been in doubles figures in every one but one of Princeton's first 11 games.

Trotman and his assistant Ed Beacham tried to console some of the disconsolate PHS players, assuring them there would be other games, other battles to win. "We lost the game; do you think it's a crime to lose, shouted Trotman.

The contest was somewhat of a carbon copy of the first meeting of the two schools in December in the Kennedy Christmas Tournament. In that game PHS at one time enjoyed a 40-15 bulge but just managed to stave off the charging Bulldogs, who lost 57-55, as time ran out.

Trailing Miller in scoring for Hopewell were Chris Kelly who had 15 and Nugget Stewart with 11. The two teams will meet again in Princeton on February 8.

Early last week, PHS, trailing 48-42, at the start of the final period, rallied to defeat Hightstown, 66-60.

Junior Oldham led the Little Tigers with 29 points -- his average is 21.5 through ten games -- while Blackledge had 15 and Fuschini, 13.

PANTHERS LOSE TWO

On The Ice. A one-goal loss to Brick Township and a 7-0 defeat administered by Hill School left the Princeton Day hockey team with a 1-2 record last week.

This Wednesday the Blue and White was scheduled to play Wissahickon away and Saturday at 4 it will square off against Lawrenceville at Lavino Rink. The Larries also lost handily to Hill, so hopefully it will be a more even match-up. Last Friday's Wissahickon game scheduled for the PDS rink was postponed to February 9 because of the snow.

Two unassisted goals by John Rodgers in the second and third period kept PDS within striking distance of Brick Township, but the visitors were able to hang on and make an early lead stand up. Although the action was fairly even throughout, Brick Township was able to build a 2-0 lead in the first period, and added one in the second.

The Panthers played more aggressively, at times too much so, and were whistled for too many penalties, according to coach Harry Rulon-Miller. Rodgers also excelled at killing time during the shorthanded situations, and Jeff Johnson played a good, steady game in the nets, making 21 saves. Defensemen Tim Brush and Kent

COME IN AND DRIVE ONE OF OUR LEGENDS.

Legend That's a pretty strong word, isn't it?

Though we sincerely doubt anyone would consider it too strong when referring to Porsche. After almost thirty years of major automotive innovations not only on the track but on the road.

And Audi's credentials are equally impressive.

You probably didn't know it, but Audi has a history that dates all the way back to 1904 (that's before the Model T). A history that includes a succession of accomplishments on the track and on the road.

But more important than any specific feature of either car is a dedication to engineering excellence that has been a hallmark of Porsches and Audis. That has separated them from other cars. That has made them more than just cars.

THE 1977 AUDI

Our $5445* Audi Fox Sedan with new aerodynamic front-end design and fuel-injected engine which propels the car from 0 to 50 in 8 seconds and yet delivers EPA estimated 36 mpg on the highway and 24 in the city for standard shift model (mileage may vary with driver, car's condition and equipment).

*Suggested 1977 retail price. P.O.E. transportation local taxes and dealer charges additional. Whitewalls optional.

THE 1977 PORSCHE

Our $28,000* Porsche Turbo Carrera. Not only the fastest production car Porsche ever built (0 to 60 in less than 6 seconds) but the most luxurious (supple leather seats, deep-cut pile carpeting, automatic temperature control, even 4 speaker stereo). *Suggested 1977 retail price. Wilkinson also showed improvement.

A week later against Hill, the Blue and White ran up against a veteran, disciplined squad, boasting three or four good players, Hill's relentless attack carried by four lines was more than the inexperienced PDS defense could handle. Rulon-Miller cited Rob Olsson for a fine effort.

PDS will miss first line left winger John Haraldson for several games. He is sidelined with a thigh injury.

ST. JOHN'S NEXT FOE

For Tiger Quintet. It isn't always the case, but this year the 10 or 11-day break for midterm exams couldn't have come at a better time for the Princeton basketball team.

The fine style of play the Tigers had been exhibiting the past three weeks totally disintegrated at the Palestra Tuesday night in a 43-39 loss to Penn. Unquestionably, the Orange and Black felt the absence of guard Bill Omeltchenko, whose appendix was removed three days earlier, but that does not totally explain the sloppy performance.

Princeton was plagued by turnovers all night, something the Tigers pride themselves on keeping to a minimum. The loss, Princeton's first after 24 consecutive Ivy victories, puts Penn in the driver's seat for the moment in the league race.

So a 10-day break in the schedule, hopefully will do the trick and turn the Tigers around for their 4 p.m. contest this Saturday against St. John's in Jamaica.

Always one of the better teams in the East, the Red-men are 10 and 4 to date this year, led by senior Glen Williams, who has been averaging close to 25 points per game. It will be a tough one for the Orange and Black to win without Omeltchenko, especially with St. John's remembering the 58-55 overtime loss to Princeton a year ago.

Another non-league game, Princeton's last of the season, will take coach Pete Carril and the team to Williamsburg, Va. the following Wednesday to play William and Mary. The Tigers were 20 point victors in Jadwin a year ago.

PDS LOSES TO HUN

By One Point. Most basketball teams find it is easier to win at home rather than on the road, but apparently it is the reverse for Princeton Day.

Coming home to their own gym for the first time this season after eight consecutive away games, the Panthers lost 52-51 to Hun. Their road record was 7-1.

"We didn't play our game, and mentally we were not as prepared for the contest as Hun was," commented PDS coach Alan Taback. "This is mostly my fault, but we did not view it as a big game. Hun prepared mentally a lot harder than we did, and they deserve the credit."

It was apparent early that the contest was going to be decided in the final minute or so, and when the time came it was Hun and not PDS that was ready. Randy Melville, who led PDS scorers with 15, gave the Panthers their final lead with 1:59 to go, connecting on two free throws.

Hun then managed to grab an offensive rebound that slipped through the hands of a Panther player, and Bob Kwiatkoski sank a short jumper to put the Raiders in the lead for good, 48-47. He hit another with a minute left to give the winners a three-point edge, and when Ron Payton tipped on a missed shot with 42 seconds left it was all over. Payton was the game's leading scorer with 21.

The Blue and White was scheduled to play Morristown-Beard away this Wednesday, and then meet Wardlaw for the second time this season Friday evening at 8. Following that PDS will play games against St. Anthony's, Lawrenceville, Pennington and Peddie. Plenty of mental preparation will be needed for each one.

WW 42-21 MAT VICTOR

Over North Brunswick. West Windsor wrestling coach Ken Bernabe was concerned, he said, that his team "might be a little flat from a week's layoff."

He needn't be. His team responded with six pins — five in a row — to rout North Brunswick Saturday, 42-21, and raise its record to 4-3. "We took eight of 12 matches which is a nice way to do things," agreed Bernabe. "I told them at the start of the match," he recalled, that "we need some sticks (pins)."

The Pirates will play host to South Hunterdon next in a Saturday meeting at 2 and to Ewing Wednesday evening at 8. This Wednesday evening at 8, they were scheduled to meet rival Princeton High School in the Little Tiger's gym.

After Brian Faherty was pinned in the opening match to give North Brunswick an early lead, Mark Edenfield, WW 108-pounder, started the Pirates pinning skein by flattening Tony Giorgiani in 4:12. Tim Lynch (115) pinned his opponent in 1:30; John Houtenville, the Pirate's 122-lb. standout, who has lost only once in 10 bouts this year, gained a fall in 2:34; Dave Stager followed with a pin in 1:55 and Ernie Rich made it five in a row with a 2:40 pin in the 135-lb. class.

Holcombe is 10-0. Chris Holcombe (10-0) remained the only undefeated Pirate when he pinned Jack Larson in 3:58 in the 170-lb. division. Gaining decisions for the victors were heavyweight Elmer Duncan, a 7-5 winner over Larry Libowski, and Scott Peet, who scored a 9-5 decision at 141 pounds.

Two reversals that Bernabe hadn't figured on occurred at 148 pounds where Dodd Johnson was pinned trying for a far side cradle and in the 158-lb. class. In the latter, Bernabe reported that Noble was injured early in the match when

SOCCER TEAMS CHOSEN

For Winter Season. Candidates in all age groups of the Princeton Soccer Club were divided into teams last week in preparation for the start of league play on Saturday. The teams will play matches every Saturday.

Top players in the oldest age groups (1959-62) will play for the Jaguars, a team which will receive advanced training and engage in matches outside league competition. The team is coached by Princeton University players Frank Sharry and Paul Bradshaw.

Coaches in the various leagues are: Louis Baldino (1969-70); Epp Winant (1968-69); Doug Davis, Louis Baldino (1968); Cyro Baldino, Andy Jackson (1967); Mark Goldrosen, Vasco Fernandez (1966); Tom Christie, Paul Milone (1965); Lex Hoedl, Bernie Shanfield (1964); Sal Bazsilay, Kevin Armbruster (1963) and Cyro Baldino, Dick Sword, Glen Kastrinos (1959-62).

60 TEAMS TO COMPETE

In Princeton Indoor Relays. One of the east's major indoor track events -- The Princeton Indoor Relays -- complete with representatives from 60 teams, some five new events and a host of standout performers is scheduled for Princeton's Jadwin Gymnasium on Sunday, February 3, starting at 1.

Now in its sixth year, the Princeton meet has become a major event for collegians seeking to qualify for both the IC4A and NCAA Championships which are scheduled for early March. "This is one obvious reason why the meet is such an attractive one," Princeton head coach Larry Ellis pointed out. "The Relays have produced some of the fastest Eastern times, for several of the indoor seasons, and it is the first big meet where a large group of quality performers can compete against each other. This is especially true of the field events."

Ellis has instituted a new format for the Relays this year, and has added the 60-yard hurdles and the 60-yard dash for college entrants and three high school relays -- the Tri-State (N.Y. -- N.J. -- Penn.) one mile and two mile relays and the New Jersey one mile relay.

"Under the new format we will offer championship and non-championship competition in the following relay events; -- one mile--two mile--distance medley--and sprints medley," Ellis pointed out. "Coaches will decide in advance if their team is strong enough to enter the championship race and if not will have the option of entering the non-championship race where we will offer enough sections of equal ability to give every team an interesting race. There will be only one championship race in each of these four events."

Ellis expects 1150 athletes representing 60 teams to compete in the Relay's 17 events. Some of the top entrants will come from
